Tonkin Gulf Incident Still Is Mystery

WASHINGTON (AP)—American destroyers were reported out of the Gulf of Tonkin today but what they hit there—if anything—remained a mystery.

Informed sources said the two vessels which fired on radar-spotted targets Friday have been pulled out of the gulf between Red Chinese and North Vietnamese coastlines after finishing their patrol on schedule.

When another destroyer patrol will sail in was left indefinite, but government sources said U.S. vessels will continue to exercise the right to roam international waters. The Navy craft have been going into the gulf periodically despite three incidents since Aug. 2.

The latest shooting occurred in the dark Friday when the two U.S. destroyers opened fire on what appeared to be menacing craft showing on their radar screens. Authorities said the radar definitely locked onto solid objects. According to the U.S. account, there was no return fire and the objects disappeared from the radar screens.

U.S. sources said investigation so far has produced no evidence of hit, such as debris or floating bodies. A Navy team has gone to the Far East to make an inquiry. It is not expected back until late next week.

The Soviet news agency Tass said Monday that the Americans fired at five ships, sinking three of them.

This seemed to come as a surprise to Washington officials, including President Johnson. He said he knew nothing about the Tass report and that newsmen had all the information the U.S. government has on this.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk told a Los Angeles news conference he would not speculate on the Russian claim.

He added that the United States "is not going to be pushed out of the Gulf of Tonkin." He said the United States will insist that the Communists of North Viet Nam and China realize that the gulf is an international body of water—not a "Communist lake."

There was speculation that the Russians might be putting out the Tass story in an effort to prod more information out of the U.S. government. Another theory was that Soviets got this data from North Viet Nam—though neither Hanoi nor Peking has put it out.

Another Rail Strike Avoided

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's trains chugged past another major strike threat today after a scheduled day-break walkout was postponed indefinitely.

There appeared little likelihood of a renewal of the strike threat by 150,000 shop workers after negotiators announced a "tentative settlement of their job security dispute."

The announcement Monday came about 14 hours before the scheduled 6 a.m. strike deadline and ended the second major threat of a virtually nationwide rail tieup since April.

The sole issue involved in the negotiations is job security, a problem that has increasingly aggravated rail labor relations since railroad modernization began wiping out thousands of jobs over the past 15 years.

No details of the tentative agreement were announced.

Bicycle Safety Program Initiated In Circleville

Circleville and Pickaway County law enforcement officials, school officials, and citizens met last night in St. Phillips Parish house to initiate a program that will promote bicycle safety in the area.

Coming up for discussion during the meeting was a proposal that city Council rewrite and renew an ordinance requiring registration and inspection of all bicycles.

The proposal met with the approval of Mayor Ben Gordon and Chief of Police Robert Temple, both of whom were present during the meeting.

Also attending last night's meeting was Fritz Jacobs, superintendent of Circleville

Schools, Patrolman P. J. Ranck of the Ohio State Highway Patrol, Pickaway County Sheriff Walton Spangler, Link Mader, a representative of the Circleville Rotary Club; Gordon Fraser, Doc Owens, Bob Hendricks, Dave Edwards and George Weller.

JACOBS stated that the public schools will be working closely with the police in distributing literature on bicycle safety. Safety discussions will be held with local school children.

Chief Temple reported his department had pamphlets and folders available on the traffic laws governing bicycles as well as safety tips.

He noted these pamphlets could be distributed when bicycle registrations were conducted.

The chief said he was in the process of rewriting the ordinance requiring registration of bikes and that it would be presented at the next meeting of the city council Oct. 6.

He noted his department would need the help of the safety committee as well as various safety organizations for the initial registration.

The chief said that basically the laws which apply to motor vehicles also apply to bike riders. A bell, or horn, audible at a

4 Workmen Still Trapped In Nevada

MERCURY, Nev. (AP)—Workmen sought urgently today to extricate a mass of electrical cable and free four men trapped 1,800 feet underground in a nuclear test shaft.

"It's a slow, agonizing process," said an Atomic Energy Commission spokesman. "The workmen have never come up against a problem like this before."

A steel cable supporting the electrical cable snapped about 6 p.m. Saturday and whiplashed upward, striking and killing one man and injuring three others, none seriously.

The cable, thick as a man's wrist, collapsed in a spaghetti-like snarl and clogged the bottom 300 feet of the 1,800-foot shaft. The shaft, cylindrical and steel-lined, is four feet in diameter.

Three 35-man crews in eight-hour shifts were working at extracting the mass of cable.

The trapped men were "comfortable and cheerful and were settling down for a good night's sleep," an AEC spokesman said Monday night.

They were in a 30-square-foot room with a 10-foot ceiling, adjoining the base of the shaft and built to hold test instruments for a nuclear test blast.

Plastic-wrapped food was lowered to the men through a 10-inch ventilation shaft.

Saigon Strike Is Called Off

Latest Viet Nam Crisis Eases

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The general strike in Saigon was called off today. Labor leaders claimed a "complete victory."

Communications were restored. Electric power and water came on Monday night. Petroleum plants, tobacco factories, most dock facilities, textile factories and municipal buses were still idle but were expected to be back to normal Wednesday.

Government sources said the strikers still out had been given the rest of today as a holiday.

Premier Nguyen Khanh's government announced striking workers fired by a leading textile plant would be reinstated. The general strike of 20,000 workers Monday started in support of them but produced other, more sweeping demands.

Government negotiators apparently held the line against a labor demand for repeal of a state of emergency regulation barring strikes. Instead, the government was reported to sign a decree banning lockouts. It also offered a decree prohibiting employers from firing workers during the state of emergency.

Some labor leaders conceded the Communist Viet Cong apparently was seeking to manipulate the strikers. A number of unidentified persons not connected with the labor leaders urged strikers on to demonstrate Monday, and some called for a charge on the premier's office building. Several thousand strikers had camped in front of the building as rain poured down.

Tension was heightened by the possibility that Communist North Viet Nam had for the first time sent full battalions into the south to help the Viet Cong guerrillas.

Khanh's government claimed its forces had ambushed two enemy battalions just south of the demilitarized zone Sunday, killing 64 men. Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in Viet Nam, told newsmen it was possible the two battalions were regular North Vietnamese units. He said this was being investigated.

Virginia Town Ready To Update Postcards

CULPEPER, Va. (AP)—This northern Virginia town of 2,500 is going to get updated—on postcards.

For some time many residents and businessmen have complained about the 1930 vintage postcards sold here, showing Stutz and Essex automobiles parked before rustic shops. The manufacturers said estimated sales didn't justify a new issue.

Monday night the Chamber of Commerce got good news. A local photographer agreed to furnish cards showing Culpeper with its 1964 clothes on.

JDC Escapees Are Nabbed Here

Four youths who escaped from the Juvenile Diagnostic Center in Columbus Sunday were apprehended by the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department in Pickaway Twp. today.

Being held in the county jail today were Donald Knece, 15, who lived near the area where the youths were apprehended; Michael Gentile, 15, Robert Hahn, 15, Carl S. Jasper, 15, all of Hamilton.

Deputy Sheriff Gene Kerns, riding a horse, flushed three of the youths — tired and dirty — from a cornfield on a farm owned by Dr. R. E. Lightner of Kingston at 9:30 a. m.

The trio was arrested immediately. The fourth escaped detective until noon.

HE WAS found asleep in a privy at the Pickaway Twp. House by Deputy Sheriff Bud Allison.

The Sheriff's department, officers from the Ohio Highway Patrol, Circleville Police, the Kingston Marshall, and private citizens joined in the search.

Enforcement officers utilized both old and new methods in tracking the youths.

Besides the horse, a plane owned by the Ostrander Flying Service and state helicopters were used.

The four youths were a part of a mass breakout at the JDC. Of the 14 who originally escaped, the other ten were caught yesterday by Madison and Franklin County authorities.

ACCORDING to Pickaway County Sheriff Walton Spangler, the quartet apparently stole a car in Columbus late last night.

They abandoned it near the Pickaway Twp. School on the Kingston - Circleville Road about six miles southeast of Circleville.

Witnesses saw the four youths and notified the Sheriff's Department.

"LET'S HELP OUR RED CROSS"

Excise Levy To Be Target Next Year

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—President Johnson told a bell-ringing, cheering crowd of labor union members today that he will recommend a cut in excise taxes next year. And he hinted at other tax cuts if prosperity continues.

This was Johnson's first flat disclosure that he favors lower excises — taxes on the retail price of such items as lipsticks, auto tires and telephone calls.

Johnson, returning to Convention Hall where he was nominated by last month's Democratic National Convention, addressed some 3,500 delegates to the 12th biennial convention of the United Steelworkers Union.

Minutes before his arrival, the delegates unanimously endorsed his candidacy.

Talking of bread-and-butter issues, Johnson sought to associate the Republican party with "voices of doom and despair." Although he did not mention the GOP, the President said these voices have been using "the same worn-out phrases against progressive legislation from Social Security through the war on poverty."

He said the public hears — but will not heed — "the same old arguments in the same old way, written, I imagine, by the same old man."

Turning to tax policy, Johnson had this to say:

"We will continue a fiscal policy which expands purchasing power to meet our power to produce. The tax cut was a part of this policy. In the future, we will not permit federal revenues to become a drag on our economy. Next year, we are planning to cut excise taxes."

By pledging that revenues would not be allowed to drag down the economy, Johnson hinted at further tax reduction. The 1964 tax cut, for example, was based largely on the theory that revenues were putting a brake on the economy.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, Republican presidential candidate, already is on record as favoring new tax cuts. Goldwater earlier this month proposed income tax reduction of 5 per cent for five years, contingent on tight budget control.

Johnson, returning to Convention Hall where he received the Democratic nomination on Aug. 26, emphasized bread-and-butter issues in his text for the steelworkers.

Hailing current prosperity, Johnson said, "America cannot (Continued on Page Two)

"The situation in Viet Nam seems to have deteriorated from confusion to chaos in the past 24 hours," Goldwater said, in a speech prepared for the first stop of a two-day campaign swing through the Southwest.

He added: "Reports of collapse and crisis along the fighting front, in the government, in the cities and in the villages have poured in."

Goldwater began his campaign swing on his 30th wedding anniversary. The trip will take the Arizona Senator and his wife through Texas and New Mexico, then back through the Midwest to New England, winding up Saturday in Michigan.

Humphrey's Wealth Told

Auditors Find Net Assets of $171,396

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey has made public his assets down to the dollar and turns out to be last—or first, depending on how you look at it—in the presidential and vice presidential financial derby.

The Johnson, Goldwater and Miller returns already were in when the Minneapolis accounting firm of Touche, Ross, Bailey & Smart reported Monday that Humphrey and his wife have total assets of $171,396.

This is within striking distance of the $260,730.57 in net assets credited to Republican vice presidential candidate William E. Miller and his wife. But it's a long way distant from the $1.7 million in net assets GOP presidential nominee Barry Goldwater listed for himself and his wife and the $3,484,098 an auditors' statement credited to President and Mrs. Johnson.

To arrive at the final figure of $171,396, liabilities of $19,887 were subtracted from total assets of $191,283.

The liabilities included an $8,887 mortgage on a home in Waverly, Minn., and household bills totaling $1,000.

Among the assets were $20,140 in the U.S. Civil Service retirement fund, government notes and bonds of $45,913, stocks and bonds worth $40,389 and $7,341 in cash in banks.

Real estate in Chevy Chase, Md., and in Waverly was listed at a total market value of $64,000.

A registered pharmacist, Humphrey has a $3,900 stock interest in the family pharmacy in Huron, S.D.

Before the report was released, the Democratic vice presidential nominee predicted it would show he is eligible neither for aid from the poverty program nor for membership in the millionaires' club. But, he said then, "There'll be enough there to take care of Mother."

California Fire Seen Near Control

CALISTOGA, Calif. (AP)—A monster forest fire that marched 18 miles in 15 hours, charring 90 square miles of timber and brush and endangering two cities, neared control by firemen today.

Like a fiery giant in seven-league boots, the blaze strode across the rugged mountains separating the Napa Valley resort town of Calistoga and Santa Rosa, seat of adjacent Sonoma County.

By dawn, weary firefighters appeared to have beaten back the fire 1½ miles southwest of exhausted Calistoga after a siege of two days.

The meandering blast furnace that hoppedscotched the tops of lofty pines over the mountains into Santa Rosa also was contained, but only after three fiery fingers had laid waste to some 25 homes, forced evacuation of about 2,000 persons and threatened a hospital and a convent.

Whipped by high winds to express-train speeds, the fire started on its devastating trek late Monday afternoon.

Earlier in the day, it had swept into Calistoga, destroying or charring 50 homes and putting half the population to flight.

MANTEO, N.C. (AP)—Hurricane Gladys brushed against the Atlantic Coast with winds up to 65 miles per hour today after becoming almost stationary off the North Carolina coast.

The big storm, which switched directions during the night to become a threat to the U.S. mainland, showed signs of intensification and was expected to drift slowly northwestward.

The Weather Bureau said hurricane force winds might reach the upper North Carolina coast late Tuesday night.

Sea water washed ashore by high winds and tides up to three feet above normal flooded a fishing village on North Carolina's sand banks and sent water over highways. Cape Hatteras, 50 miles south of Manteo, was flooded by water sweeping in from the ocean. The highway patrol said 18 to 24 inches of water was rushing through some of the village's streets.

Firemen's 'Aide' Accused of Arson

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—A young Mansfield man who police said was spotted on the roof of a burning building Saturday, was charged with arson today.

Patrolmen said he first was spotted on the roof and came forward to offer to help fight the fire. Damage was estimated at $60,000.

Goldwater Says Johnson To Answer for 'Lies'

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater said today President Johnson has "hundreds of lies and hundreds of lies to answer for" as a result of his policy for South Viet Nam.

The Republican presidential nominee described the fighting in South Viet Nam as "a conflict without end and without apparent purpose."

"The situation in Viet Nam seems to have deteriorated from confusion to chaos in the past 24 hours," Goldwater said, in a speech prepared for the first stop of a two-day campaign swing through the Southwest.

He added: "Reports of collapse and crisis along the fighting front, in the government, in the cities and in the villages have poured in."

Goldwater began his campaign swing on his 30th wedding anniversary. The trip will take the Arizona Senator and his wife through Texas and New Mexico, then back through the Midwest to New England, winding up Saturday in Michigan.

He hit the campaign trail again after taking a day off

Sunday and spending most of Monday taping a television show in Gettysburg, Pa., with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower. It will be shown tonight on a nationwide hookup.

Mrs. Goldwater stayed behind Monday night when the senator flew down to Charlotte, N.C., for his third stop in that state within a week.

More than 12,000 cheered and applauded in the Charlotte Coliseum as Goldwater challenged President Johnson to a television debate.

"I challenge my opponent, the interim President Lyndon Baines Johnson, to face the issues," he said. "I dare him to face me before the world. I ask of him—debate."

The prepared text had said, "I demand of him—debate." Goldwater changed "demand" to "ask" in delivering the speech. There was no explanation for the change.

Last Jan. 31, Goldwater said that if he were President he would not debate an opponent on television. He said that a President might make a slip in a television debate which could be costly to U.S. security.

Mistrial Declared in Civil Suit

A civil hearing, which opened yesterday in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court, ended abruptly after a lunch recess and was declared a mistrial.

The case involved a $7,330 damages claim by Curtis W. Hix, Route 1, Mt. Sterling, against Mrs. Virginia Smith, Chillicothe. Hix filed the suit as a result of alleged injuries received in a head-on collision with a vehicle driven by Mrs. Smith.

Charles Brown, the defense attorney, made the motion for a mistrial on the basis of "improper information" submitted by a witness. The motion was granted by Judge William Ammer.

The hearing was immediately halted and the panel of jurors dismissed.

According to a court spokesman the suit will be retried and a new jury drawn at a later date.

Representing Hix in the lawsuit are Robert Wright, a Mt. Sterling attorney, and Tom A. Renick, Circleville attorney.

Area Farmers Are Offered New Service

Ed Johnson, tri-county Farm Bureau organization director, announced here today that the farmers in Pickaway County will have the opportunity 8 p. m. tomorrow at the Farm Bureau Home, to learn of the new electronic record keeping service known as Buckeye Farm Records.

Buckeye Farm Records is an electronic, confidential record keeping service for farmers only and is sponsored by the County Farm Bureau and the Ohio Farm Bureau. It verifies all statements, codes the data and produces the financial report in a form that farmers can use in a managing operation.

"The emphasis by management of all businesses on cost data for decision making has been increasing at a rapid pace for many years. As this business of farming has become more complex and margins have narrowed, the need for complete and accurate financial data has been recognized by the owners and operators of family farms. However, a commercial service that meets the financial and management needs of farm businesses was not available to all farmers," said Johnson.

Buckeye Farm Records is presently serving 140 farmers in about 18 counties in North and South Central Ohio.

Ralph Cessna, field director, Buckeye Farm Records, will be the meeting's resource person.

afford a recession." He went on to paint this picture:

"A recession today, like that of the 1950s, would mean a loss of $20 billion a year in production—a loss of 1 1/2 million jobs—a 40 per cent rise in unemployment."

In addition to avoiding recession, Johnson said, the nation must "extend prosperity to all Americans" through stronger unemployment compensation and minimum wage laws, through medical care for the aging under Social Security and through "equal opportunity for every American of every race and color and belief."

In his one prepared reference to civil rights, the President said: "No one has anything to fear from increasing opportunity for all Americans. History proves and reason confirms the more Americans take a productive place in our society, the greater the prosperity of all."

"The only real danger to any is the failure to use the skills and labor of all."

Another national challenge, said Johnson, is to "harness the forces of enlarging technology and expanding population to improve the life of our people."

He said he would encourage expansion and modernization of industry "through tax incentives and increased research."

And he said that "in every area we will extend the hand of cooperation—not coercion—to business and labor."

Hitting anew his national unity theme, Johnson said:

"We approach the future bound together in a common awareness that there is more to be gained through cooperation than conflict—greater rewards in harmony than in hostility—a brighter future in unity than in unrest."

At another point, Johnson said:

"If anyone thinks the American people are going to shape the future of freedom—the prospect of prosperity—the hope for peace—on the basis of fear and hatred and division, than I say they do not know the American people."

Kennedy Assassination Report To Be Unfolded

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Warren Commission's report on the assassination of President John F. Kennedy will be unfolded to the world next weekend.

The commission headed by Chief Justice Earl Warren, which has been probing the Dallas tragedy of last Nov. 22, will submit its findings to President Johnson on Thursday, the White House announced.

Press secretary George Reedy said the report — a volume of a quarter of a million words, plus 20 or more additional volumes of testimony and evidence — will be made public over the weekend. He did not specify the day or hour.

Reedy said he did not know who would deliver the report, but commission sources said they expect Warren and his six colleagues to visit the White House personally late Thursday morning.

The six other members who have been working with Warren for the past fortnight to complete the 10-month inquiry, are:

Allen W. Dulles, former director of the Central Intelligence Agency; John J. McCloy, lawyer, banker and former high commissioner for Germany; Sens. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., and John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky.; and Reps. Hale Boggs, D-La., and Gerald Ford, R-Mich.

They have worked for utmost secrecy and under heavy security precautions, but are understood to have found no substantial evidence to refute the original conclusions of Dallas authorities and the Federal Bureau of Investigation — that:

Lee Harvey Oswald, 24-year-old Marxist, marksman and unstable ex-Marine, planned the slaying alone and executed it from a sniper's perch in the Texas School Book Depository overlooking the presidential motorcade.

And that Jack Ruby, the Dallas night club owner convicted of murdering Oswald two days later, was not linked to any plot or conspiracy of the left or right.

Ill-Fated XB70 Bomber Is Plagued by Problems

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — The nation's biggest bomber ran into trouble its first time up, but trouble is nothing new to the B70, a breed of plane regarded by some as an absolute must and by others as an obsolete bust.

Off the drawing boards the better part of a decade, the 185-foot-long monster finally got off the ground Monday, and:

—First off, developed either instrument or mechanical trouble and went through most of its 65-minute maiden flight with one of its six engines dead.

—Developed landing gear trouble, and, as a precaution, kept its wheels and its speed down the rest of the flight.

—Landed with a fiery splash, burning two tires that apparently were held rigid by a locked brake.

The Air Force brushed aside these annoyances, expressed satisfaction with the flight, and said it expects the triangular-winged craft to carry on as a research vehicle — a role somewhat less dramatic than the one in which the XB70 was originally cast.

The XB70, which has a slender fuselage and looks like a flying serpent, was designed to go as fast as 2,000 m.p.h. and as high as 80,000 feet.

Monday it was expected to reach 700 or 800 m.p.h. and about 35,000 feet, but the mal-functions held the speed to about 375 m.p.h. and the altitude to 16,000 feet.

About $1.2 billion has already been sunk into the XB70 program. Before the testing is over the investment may be $1.5 billion.

The Air Force issued a requirement for such a plane in October 1954. North American won a design competition the next year.

The first flight was to have been in December 1962, but there were technical delays.

REA Future Said Tied to Fall Election

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The future of rural electrification and the economy of rural America hinge on the outcome of the presidential election, the head of the Rural Electrification Administration said today.

Administrator Norman M. Clapp picked up the running criticism of Republican presidential candidate Barry Goldwater, which has permeated the three-day regional convention of the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association here.

"Let me remind you that the man nominated for the presidency of the United States at San Francisco just a few short weeks ago has said bluntly, publicly and repeatedly that REA has 'done its job' and outlived its usefulness," Clapp said.

The administrator added that the Goldwater view "holds that these systems were never intended to be more than stopgap devices to provide temporary service until the commercial power companies found it profitable to take over."

Saying "fortunately there is another choice" in the November election, Clapp asserted that the Johnson administration is "clearly and definitely committed to the strengthening of the rural electrification program through strengthening the cooperative systems you built so that parity, progress and permanence may be attained."

Stock Mart Pushes Ahead

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market advance pushed ahead against increasing opposition early this afternoon. Trading was moderately active.

Gains of fractions to around a point among key stocks outnumbered losers.

Profit-taking on the strong rise of Monday and the additional gains this morning began to mount as the session wore on.

The top three steelmakers took minor losses. Auto stocks were scrambled even though General Motors advanced nearly a point, touching another new high. GM showed no alarm at the Friday strike deadline set up by the United Auto Workers.

Selected advances by chemicals, rails, golds, electrical equipments and machinery issues helped keep the list in plus territory.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .8 at 325.8 with industrials up 1.1, rails up .7 and utilities up 1.1. The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 182 at 873.40.

LBJ Puts White House Duties 'Ahead of Politics'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson says he is going out to talk to the people and "look them in the eye," but pledges "I will be president first" and not let campaigning interfere with White House duties.

He made it clear at a news conference Monday that while engaged in "visiting all over this country" he intends to be just about as nonpartisan as a fellow can be and still run for the nation's highest office.

Topping this off, the President greeted a large aggregation of representatives of fraternal organizations by telling them they were visiting their White House and that the office he holds was "the office of all the people."

"I do not know your politics," he said. "I do not care about your partisanship. I do know — and I do care — about your leadership."

Then he proceeded to sound a campaign theme. It was that the country is "more prosperous than ever before," is "better prepared than ever before" and is "more determined to preserve peace than ever before."

Admitting a band of surprised tourists at a White House gate, Johnson led them and reporters for four laps around the White House back lawn. As he progressed, he answered newsmen's questions.

He didn't think, he said, that when he held news conferences that he was making "a Democratic appearance." The Federal Communications Commission reportedly can't agree on whether televised versions of such conferences requires broadcasters to offer equal time to any Johnson opponent.

"I don't consider reviewing a hurricane as a political thing," he said. "It could help you or hurt you." This was in reference to this recent visit to hurricane-devastated areas of Florida and Georgia which some Republicans suggested was more political than presidential.

He went on to say that he will continue to be in and out of the White House and his duties there will have "first priority."

"I will be president first, but we will be out campaigning when the opportunity permits, to the extent it permits," he said.

Mentioning a forthcoming fund-raising speech in Cleveland, Ohio, and a series of speeches in New England as political, Johnson said the Democratic party would pay his expenses on them. But on other occasions he said the president had to do "just like I am doing now" and that wasn't political.

Chillicothe Flood Control Project Is Speeded Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Public Works Committee approved a bill today by Rep. William H. Harsha, R-Ohio, to allow an earlier start on construction of flood-control works at Chillicothe, Ohio.

Harsha told the committee that under present law which authorizes the Scioto River flood control project, work on upstream reservoirs is to be started first.

His bill, he said, would permit work to be started on the Chillicothe local protection works at the same time the upstream work is begun. He said there is need for such flood protection at Chillicothe.

afford a recession." He went on to paint this picture:

"A recession, like that of the 1950s, would mean a loss of $20 billion a year in production—a loss of 1 1/2 million jobs—a 40 per cent rise in unemployment."

In addition to avoiding recession, Johnson said, the nation must "extend prosperity to all Americans" through stronger unemployment compensation and minimum wage laws, through medical care for the aging under Social Security and through "equal opportunity for every American of every race and color and belief."

In his own prepared reference to civil rights, the President said: "No one has anything to fear from increasing opportunity for all Americans. History proves and reason confirms the more Americans take a constructive place in our society, the greater the prosperity of all."

"The only real danger to any is the failure to use the skills and labor of all."

Another national challenge, said Johnson, is to "harness the forces of enlarging technology and expanding population to improve the life of our people."

He said he would encourage expansion and modernization of industry "through tax incentives and increased research."

And he said that "in every area we will extend the hand of cooperation — not coercion — to business and labor."

Hitting anew his national unity theme, Johnson said:

"We approach the future bound together in a common awareness that there is more to be gained through cooperation than conflict — greater rewards in harmony than in hostility — a brighter future in unity than in unrest."

At another point, Johnson said:

"If anyone thinks the American people are going to shape the future of freedom — the prospect of prosperity — the hope for peace — on the basis of fear and hatred and division, then I say they do not know the American people."

13 Starters Named for Jug Thursday

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP)—The Little Brown Jug drew 13 starters today for Thursday's $66,590 test for 3-year-old pacers at the Delaware county fairgrounds track, and the race will be paced in two divisions.

Vicar Hanover, owned by Donald McFarlane of Grosse Pointe, Mich., and driven by Billy Houghton, is the early favorite. He'll score from sixth position in the first heat.

Kennedy Assassination Report To Be Unfolded

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Warren Commission's report on the assassination of President John F. Kennedy will be unfolded to the world next weekend.

The commission headed by Chief Justice Earl Warren, which has been probing the Dallas tragedy of last Nov. 22, will submit its findings to President Johnson on Thursday, the White House announced.

Press secretary George Reedy said the report — a volume of a quarter of a million words, plus 20 or more additional volumes of testimony and evidence — will be made public over the weekend. He did not specify the day or hour.

Reedy said he did not know who would deliver the report, but commission sources said they expect Warren and his six colleagues to visit the White House personally late Thursday morning.

The six other members who have been working with Warren for the past fortnight to complete the 10-month inquiry, are:

Allen W. Dulles, former director of the Central Intelligence Agency; John J. McCloy, lawyer, banker and former high commissioner for Germany; Sens. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., and John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky.; and Reps. Hale Boggs, D-La., and Gerald Ford, R-Mich.

They have worked for utmost secrecy and under heavy security precautions, but are understood to have found no substantial evidence to refute the original conclusions of Dallas authorities and the Federal Bureau of Investigation — that:

Lee Harvey Oswald, 24-year-old Marxist, marksman and unstable ex-Marine, planned the slaying alone and executed it from a sniper's perch in the Texas School Book Depository overlooking the presidential motorcade.

And that Jack Ruby, the Dallas night club owner convicted of murdering Oswald two days later, was not linked to any plot or conspiracy of the left or right.

Ill-Fated XB70 Bomber Is Plagued by Problems

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — The nation's biggest bomber ran into trouble its first time up, but trouble is nothing new to the B70, a breed of plane regarded by some as an absolute must and by others as an obsolete bust.

Off the drawing boards the better part of a decade, the 185-foot-long monster finally got off the ground Monday, and:

—First off, developed either instrument or mechanical trouble and went through most of its 65-minute maiden flight with one of its six engines dead.

—Developed landing gear trouble, and, as a precaution, kept its wheels and its speed down the rest of the flight.

—Landed with a fiery splash, burning two tires that apparently were held rigid by a locked brake.

The Air Force brushed aside these annoyances, expressed satisfaction with the flight, and said it expects the triangular-winged craft to carry on as a research vehicle — a role somewhat less dramatic than the one in which the XB70 was originally cast.

The XB70, which has a slender fuselage and looks like a flying serpent, was designed to go as fast as 2,000 m.p.h. and as high as 80,000 feet.

Monday it was expected to reach 700 or 800 m.p.h. and about 35,000 feet, but the malfunctions held the speed to about 375 m.p.h. and the altitude to 16,000 feet.

About $1.2 billion has already been sunk into the XB70 program. Before the testing is over the investment may be $1.5 billion.

The Air Force issued a requirement for such a plane in October 1954. North American won a design competition the next year.

The first flight was to have been in December 1962, but there were technical delays.

Stock Mart Pushes Ahead

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market advance pushed ahead against increasing opposition early this afternoon. Trading was moderately active.

Gains of fractions to around a point among key stocks outnumbered losers.

Profit-taking on the strong rise of Monday and the additional gains this morning began to mount as the session wore on.

The top three steelmakers took minor losses. Auto stocks were scrambled even though General Motors advanced nearly a point, touching another new high. GM showed no alarm at the Friday strike deadline set up by the United Auto Workers.

Selected advances by chemicals, rails, goods, electrical equipments and machinery issues helped keep the list in plus territory.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .8 at 325.8 with industrials up 1.1, rails up .7 and utilities up 1.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up .82 at 873.40.

LBJ Puts White House Duties 'Ahead of Politics'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson says he is going out to talk to the people and "look them in the eye," but pledges "I will be president first" and not let campaigning interfere with White House duties.

He made it clear at a news conference Monday that while engaged in "visiting all over this country" he intends to be just about as nonpartisan as a fellow can be and still run for the nation's highest office.

Topping this off, the President greeted a large aggregation of representatives of fraternal organizations by telling them they were visiting their White House and that the office he holds was "the office of all the people."

"I do not know your politics," he said. "I do not care about your partisanship. I do know — and I do care — about your leadership."

Then he proceeded to sound a campaign theme. It was that the country is "more prosperous than ever before," is "better prepared than ever before" and is "more determined to preserve peace than ever before."

Admitting a band of surprised tourists at a White House gate, Johnson led them and reporters for four laps around the White House back lawn. As he progressed, he answered newsmen's questions.

He didn't think, he said, that when he held news conferences that he was making "a Democratic appearance." The Federal Communications Commission reportedly can't agree on whether televised versions of such conferences requires broadcasters to offer equal time to any Johnson opponent.

"I don't consider reviewing a hurricane as a political thing," he said. "It could help you or hurt you." This was in reference to this recent visit to hurricane-devastated areas of Florida and Georgia which some Republicans suggested was more political than presidential.

He went on to say that he will continue to be in and out of the White House and his duties there will have "first priority."

"I will be president first, but we will be out campaigning when the opportunity permits, to the extent it permits," he said.

Mentioning a forthcoming fund-raising speech in Cleveland, Ohio, and a series of speeches in New England as political, Johnson said the Democratic party would pay his expenses on them. But on other occasions he said the president had to do "just like I am doing now" and that wasn't political.

'Bama Asks Home-Rule Amendment

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—With his own legislature solidly behind him, Gov. George Wallace promised today a fighting campaign across the nation to outlaw federal control over the schools.

The legislature, in an unprecedented three-hour special session, gave its unanimous approval Monday night to a resolution aimed at forcing a home-rule amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

It was the first step, Wallace said, in an effort to enlist support from enough states to compel Congress to call a constitutional convention to consider the amendment which would prohibit the federal courts from exercising jurisdiction over school affairs.

The governor invoked a seldom-used and never-successful procedure which allows the legislatures of two-thirds of the states to initiate a constitutional amendment without congressional approval.

If it succeeded, and the convention endorsed the local-control measure, the proposed amendment would go back to the states. Three-fourths of them would have to ratify it before it could take effect.

Wallace disavowed a purely racial motive in seeking to keep the federal courts out of the affairs of the schools, even though he spoke only days after classrooms in three more Alabama communities were integrated.

Chillicothe Flood Control Project Is Speeded Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Public Works Committee approved a bill today by Rep. William H. Harsha, R-Ohio, to allow an earlier start on construction of flood-control works at Chillicothe, Ohio.

Harsha told the committee that under present law which authorizes the Scioto River flood control project, work on upstream reservoirs is to be started first.

His bill, he said, would permit work to be started on the Chillicothe local protection works at the same time the upstream work is begun. He said there is need for such flood protection at Chillicothe.

Morse Promises More Filibuster

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Wayne Morse has blistered his liberal colleagues in the Senate for supporting even a mild alternative to the Dirksen reapportionment proposal, promising that he'll filibuster against any "affront to the Supreme Court."

This blast from the Oregon Democrat and his pledge of a one-man showdown filibuster to drive the issue from the Senate floor further complicates efforts to resolve the Senate stalemate over reapportionment of state legislatures — an issue upon which adjournment of Congress is riding.

CF Chairmen Discuss Plans

Division chairmen of the Pickaway County Community Fund met Monday at the local General Electric plant to discuss final plans for this year's drive scheduled to get under way Monday.

Jim Wilson, campaign chairman, reminded the group of the CF Rally slated Oct. 5. Everyone associated with the campaign will attend the kick-off session.

The rally will be held in the 4-H and Grange Building at the fairgrounds. Clay Eager, a Columbus TV personality, will entertain and refreshments will be served.

Wilson also noted that the goal for this year must be met if the fund agencies are to receive the money they need for next year's operation. The over-all goal this year is $38,788 and to reach the goal, Wilson said, each division must exceed last year's total.

Key Medicare Decision Near

Senate-House Unit Slated To Parley

WASHINGTON (AP) — The key decision this year on starting a health care program under Social Security is expected to be reached at a Senate-House conference Wednesday or Thursday.

Chances for adoption of the program appear slim. But some of its supporters among the 12 conferees have cautioned news-men not to write it off completely.

President Johnson reportedly has been urging that some form of Social Security health provision be included in the final bill.

The key figure among the 12 on the bitterly controversial health care issue is Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the conference and head of the five-member House group.

The four other House conferees are split even on the issue. If Mills voted with the two other Democrats, the House conferees would agree to accept the Senate health care plan or some version of it.

However, the close-mouthed Arkansas has been against such a program tied to Social Security for years, and his opposition seems to have hardened recently.

The conferees held three sessions last week on the Social Security bill to which the health proposal was added as a Senate amendment.

Mills has steadfastly declined to make any announcements on the sessions.

The seven Senate conferees voted 5-2 against the health amendment when it was adopted 49-44 in their branch. But they are understood to have given assurances they will stand behind the provision at least long enough to see if the House group will take it.

The showdown, several conferees said, probably will come on the first or second day after the sessions resume today.

If the health proposal is killed in the conference, its supporters in both House and Senate can try to reject the compromise measure and return it with instructions to incorporate the amendment.

However, Democratic leaders say privately they see little chance of success for such a maneuver.

Negro Church, Home Hit by Bombings

MCCOMB, Miss. (AP) — A Negro church and the home of a Negro civil rights worker were bombed Sunday night and angry Negroes stoned a police car when it arrived.

Police said 2,000 or 3,000 Negroes attacked the patrol car with bricks and bottles when it drove up to the wrecked home of Aylene Quin. Negro leaders said about 150 were in the crowd.

The patrol car roared away from the scene, Jesse Harris, project director of a Negro voter registration drive, exhorted the crowd to "go at it peacefully."

Spokesmen for the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee said the crowd dispersed. The Society Hill Baptist church, just south of McComb, was blasted into rubble about an hour after the explosion at the Quin home at 10:50 p.m. The church was empty at the time.

Negro spokesmen for SNCC said the bombings make a total of 13 here since the Council of Federated Organizations, a coordinating group, opened operations here last June. There were some before that date.

In addition, about 10 churches have been burned. Officers said no evidence of arson was found. No arrests have been reported.

Democrats Have Proved Two Things: LBJ Is in Charge, South Expendable

By ALLAN NEVINS
Written for
The Associated Press

In one respect, at least, the Democratic convention this year was much like the Republican. Both apparently were dominated by a single strong personality. Lyndon B. Johnson imposed his will on the cheering Atlantic City hall as forcefully as Barry Goldwater had persuaded the Cow Palace in San Francisco to accept his mandates.

Many Atlantic City observers pronounced the convention there the happiest and most hopeful which the Democrats have enjoyed since 1936. Four years ago the party nominated John F. Kennedy only after a battle of aspirants that left its scars even though Kennedy's principal rival accepted the vice-presidential nomination.

In 1952 and 1956 the Democrats, led by Adlai E. Stevenson, faced with justified forebodings the appeal of a great military chieftain.

The years 1940 and 1944 were clouded, the first time by some question of the attitude of voters toward a third term, and the second time by Roosevelt's obviously failing health.

But this year, as in 1936, a president with a record of accomplishment and strong personal gifts is nominated.

It is an overstatement to say that Johnson completely controlled the convention. Ghosts walked in that Atlantic City hall, and made its acts more significant than Johnson's single fiat could have made them. One almost tangible ghost was that of John F. Kennedy.

Party heads boasted that the present session of the 88th Congress has put on the statute book a body of legislation almost equalling that of Franklin D. Roosevelt's hundred days, or Woodrow Wilson's first term. Its passage owed much to Johnson's determination. Nevertheless, most of its important parts, except for the anti-poverty law, were conceived by Kennedy. The spirits of Roosevelt and Truman were also prominent in the hall, and when foreign problems were discussed that of Woodrow Wilson hovered in the air.

But even Johnson's critics granted that his role in the Atlantic City convention contributed much to its success. The platform reflected all his ideas on the social and economic responsibilities of government; he marched to his coronation with the speed and dexterity to be expected of one of the master politicians of our era; and his dramatically timed utterance of the name Hubert H. Humphrey instantly made the Minnesota senator his running mate.

Yet all the while the Democrats were not completely confident. A deep inner apprehension was fitfully visible. The fear was that Goldwater might appeal to powerful American emotions.

Hence it was that the Democrats at Atlantic City tried in their own way to reach down to basic emotions. They attacked Goldwater's reversals of speech as evidence of instability. They hit strongly the point that "recklessness" might precipitate a war that would destroy the allied nations and ruin half of America.

But still the apprehension that Goldwater is reaching powerful hidden currents of American feeling persisted, and helped explain why the Democrats at

Ohio Traffic Mishaps Take Total of 19 Lives

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Traffic accidents took a grim leap back to normal over the weekend, claiming 19 lives across the state.

A weekend ago, only seven died in traffic accidents. The last weekend of summer also claimed five other lives for a total of 24 dead.

The deaths reflected the change of seasons. Two persons died in gun accidents, a sign of the hunting season. One person was drowned.

A revolutionary ship developed by the U. S. Navy races over the water atop a supporting layer of compressed air bubbles.

Atlantic City took such flattering notice of the columnists and commentators jeered in San Francisco.

The Republican candidate asked that voters be given a clear-cut choice this year. The Democrats responded at Atlantic City. A clear-cut choice is assuredly visible between Hubert Humphrey and William E. Miller as aspirants for the vice presidency, and possible succession to the presidency. Outside the defense program, the platforms have few areas of agreement.

The Republicans pointed to a "mounting assault of expanding centralized power." The Democratic platform took the opposite stand by advocating a long series of federal aid programs.

And where does the Atlantic City convention leave the future character of the Democratic party? The Goldwater convention tried hard to revolutionize the GOP, and temporarily succeeded. Did not the Democrats have to take some counteraction? But Johnson refrained from altering the moderate, middle-of-the-road character of his party.

If the nomination of William Miller was intended to force him to select Robert Kennedy for running mate, it failed to do so. He chose Humphrey, a Westerner, a Protestant, and a liberal. If the authors of the Republican planks hoped to tempt the Democrats to some riposte, they again failed. The party platform is much that of 1956 and 1960.

Yet the Democratic party did take one memorable step toward a changed character in Atlantic City. It confirmed and enlarged its defiance of important elements in the South. The convention wrote a new chapter in the fascinating history of the special relations of the Democratic Party and the South.

The Democratic party was born under the leadership of two Southerners, Jefferson and Madison. It was given a new endowment of character and power by the Southerner Andrew Jackson.

Just over a hundred years ago such Southern fire-eaters as Robert Toombs, W. L. Yancey, and Jefferson Davis were splitting the Democratic party asunder as a prelude to the splitting of the nation.

From the ordeal of the Civil War and Reconstruction the Solid South emerged as the principal bulwark of a weakened and suspected Democratic party that had totally lost New England, and largely lost the middle Atlantic and western areas. That bulwark was long indispensable.

It had remained so solid that even the defection of the border state Missouri in 1904 seemed a shock. The South swelled Franklin D. Roosevelt's majorities in 1932 and the three ensuing elections.

A seismic change was nevertheless taking place in the Roosevelt years. The Democratic party was opening powerful new sources of support in the tiers of industrial states stretching from Detroit, Chicago and St. Louis eastward to the Atlantic. Here it appealed to the masses of first and second generation immigrants, to the Negroes, to the factory hands, and to all neglected and mal-treated groups. The Republican party, losing those huge bodies of voters, was finding uncertain replacements. Rising Democratic strength in the North had a clear result. The once-solid South was becoming expendable.

This fact was dramatically revealed in 1948, when Truman ran for election. His opponent, Thomas E. Dewey, seemed strong. When the Democrats gathered in Philadelphia, many southerners were already embittered by the success of Roosevelt, Truman, and Mrs. Roosevelt in enlarging Negro rights. The nomination of Alben Barkley of Kentucky for vice president did little to assuage their feelings. As the Americans for Democratic Action carried a plank for the better enforcement of equal rights, many southerners left the hall in anger. They immediately met in Birmingham, formed the State Rights Party, voted a segregationist platform, and nominated J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina for president. Since Henry Wallace was about to use a splinter party to take New York from Truman, this Dixiecrat bolt appeared fatal.

But it was far indeed from fatal. Truman used Roosevelt's strategy of appealing to large new bodies of voters. He rallied labor by his denunciation of the Taft-Hartley Act and right-towork laws. He not only courted the fast-growing Negro vote in large northern cities by a sweeping endorsement of civil rights, but organized it. He gained the vote of the underprivileged by pledges of better Social Security and bolder public housing. He promised housewives he would strengthen the controls over inflation. Farmers of the midwest and plains states glowed as he denounced current failures in assisting them. He made good use of the success of the Marshall Plan.

He reassured plain people in general that the clock would not be turned back.

In the upshot Truman lost Louisiana, Mississippi, South Carolina, and Alabama to the Dixiecrats. But this meant only 38 electoral votes. He carried 28 other states with 304 electors against Dewey's 16 states with 115 electors. Clearly, the Dixiecrats were expendable.

President Johnson, facing a half-mutinious Alabama and Mississippi in Atlantic City, knew that they were expendable still. The labor vote of the big industrial states, the larger and larger Negro vote, the vote of the liberals who were captured by Roosevelt's progressive social measures and regained by Kennedy, the Democratic fraction of the farm vote, cannot be surrendered; the Dixiecrat vote can. Johnson faced the dissident southerners with a frank statement that the Democrats are happy to go without them.

The compromise worked out at Atlantic City by Humphrey fell short of achieving a full victory for party cohesion. The Mississippi delegates, to the privately expressed indignation of many southern associates, walked out; only three Alabama delegates signed a loyalty pledge. But the firm civil rights plank, the yet firmer words of Johnson, the general demonstrations of sympathy for the Freedom Democrats of Mississippi, and above all the grant of two seats as delegates-at-large to these Negro contestants, showed that a new day is dawning.

Guarantees have been laid down against racial discrimination in the next call for a national Democratic convention. The fact is that the Democratic Party can better afford to dispense with Southern recalcitrants than southerners can afford to dispense with the Democratic party — and the southerners know it.

The latter day Democratic alliance with mass bodies of northern and western voters effected by Roosevelt and Kennedy has heavily reduced the value of ironclad southern support.

Bristlecone Pine Trees Believed 4000 Years Old

BISHOP, Calif. (AP) — High on the barren upper slopes of the White Mountains of central California is a graveyard of twisted things that refuse to die. They are bristlecone pines, some more than 4,000 years old and believed to be the oldest living things on earth.

They look their age. Some have only one branch left with a few needles. The older ones have lost all but a narrow strip of bark and their bare trunks have been polished by centuries of wind and dust and sun.

They look like drift wood, but somehow they still live, with their gnarled roots sucking sustenance from soil too poor and dry for all other forms of life.

More than 100 of these banical freaks have lived through 40 centuries and experts believe they're good for another millennium or two.

In an attempt to find out just how long the bristlecone pine can live in its natural environment, the U.S. Forest Service has set aside 28,000 acres in the White Mountains 20 miles east of here between the 9,000- and 11,000-foot levels, where the annual rainfall seldom exceeds 12 inches.

Unlike the towering 3,500-year-old sequoia, the starved bristlecone seldom reaches 30 feet in height.

It gets its name from its cone, much like other pine cones except for a bristle that extends from each section of the waffled surface.

Why does it live so long? Dr. Robert Wright of the University of Redlands Biology Department, who has made a study of the bristlecone, credits a dry climate and little if any competition in its home above the timberline for what nutrients can be scrounged from the mountain soil.

Wet rot kills most trees at a comparatively young age. Even the giant redwoods, highly resistant to rot, eventually topple when they get so big their roots can't hold in soft, moist soil. The scrubby bristlecone in its arid climate has no such problem.

Other bristlecones have been found in milder climates in mountain country eastward to Colorado, Wright says, but none begin to approach the age of those in the White Mountains.

Somewhat, just learning to live in a virtually impossible environment, these tortured forms have found the secret of enduring longer than any other known kind of life on earth.

A hurricane destroyed 10 of 11 ships of a royal armed treasure fleet laden with New World plunder for the Spanish crown, in 1715.

Key Medicare Decision Near

Senate-House Unit Slated To Parley

WASHINGTON (AP) — The key decision this year on starting a health care program under Social Security is expected to be reached at a Senate-House conference Wednesday or Thursday.

Chances for adoption of the program appear slim. But some of its supporters among the 12 conferees have cautioned newsmen not to write it off completely.

President Johnson reportedly has been urging that some form of Social Security health provision be included in the final bill.

The key figure among the 12 on the bitterly controversial health care issue is Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the conference and head of the five-member House group.

The four other House conferees are split even on the issue. If Mills voted with the two other Democrats, the House conferees would agree to accept the Senate health care plan or some version of it.

However, the close-mouthed Arkansas has been against such a program tied to Social Security for years, and his opposition seems to have hardened recently.

The conferees held three sessions last week on the Social Security bill to which the health proposal was added as a Senate amendment.

Mills has steadfastly declined to make any announcements on the sessions.

The seven Senate conferees voted 5-2 against the health amendment when it was adopted 49-44 in their branch. But they are understood to have given assurances they will stand behind the provision at least long enough to see if the House group will take it.

The showdown, several conferees said, probably will come on the first or second day after the sessions resume today.

If the health proposal is killed in the conference, its supporters in both House and Senate can try to reject the compromise measure and return it with instructions to incorporate the amendment.

However, Democratic leaders say privately they see little chance of success for such a maneuver.

Negro Church, Home Hit by Bombings

MCCOMB, Miss. (AP) — A Negro church and the home of a Negro civil rights worker were bombed Sunday night and angry Negroes stoned a police car when it arrived.

Police said 2,000 or 3,000 Negroes attacked the patrol car with bricks and bottles when it drove up to the wrecked home of Aylene Quin. Negro leaders said about 150 were in the crowd.

The patrol car roared away from the scene. Jesse Harris, project director of a Negro voter registration drive, exhorted the crowd to "go at it peacefully."

Spokesmen for the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee said the crowd dispersed.

The Society Hill Baptist church, just south of McComb, was blasted into rubble about an hour after the explosion at the Quin home at 10:50 p.m. The church was empty at the time.

Negro spokesmen for SNCC said the bombings make a total of 13 here since the Council of Federated Organizations, a coordinating group, opened operations here last June. There were some before that date.

In addition, about 10 churches have been burned. Officers said no evidence of arson was found. No arrests have been reported.

Democrats Have Proved Two Things: LBJ Is in Charge, South Expendable

By ALLAN NEVINS
Written for
The Associated Press

In one respect, at least, the Democratic convention this year was much like the Republican. Both apparently were dominated by a single strong personality. Lyndon B. Johnson imposed his will on the cheering Atlantic City hall as forcefully as Barry Goldwater had persuaded the Cow Palace in San Francisco to accept his mandates.

Many Atlantic City observers pronounced the convention there the happiest and most hopeful which the Democrats have enjoyed since 1936. Four years ago the party nominated John F. Kennedy only after a battle of aspirants that left its scars even though Kennedy's principal rival accepted the vice-presidential nomination.

In 1952 and 1956 the Democrats, led by Adlai E. Stevenson, faced with justified forebodings the appeal of a great military chieftain.

The years 1940 and 1944 were clouded, the first time by some question of the attitude of voters toward a third term, and the second time by Roosevelt's obviously failing health.

But this year, as in 1936, a president with a record of accomplishment and strong personal gifts is nominated.

It is an overstatement to say that Johnson completely controlled the convention. Ghosts walked in that Atlantic City hall, and made its acts more significant than Johnson's single fiat could have made them. One almost tangible ghost was that of John F. Kennedy.

Party heads boasted that the present session of the 88th Congress has put on the tatue book a body of legislation almost equalling that of Franklin D. Roosevelt's hundred days, or Woodrow Wilson's first term. Its passage owed much to Johnson's determination. Nevertheless, most of its important parts, except for the antipoverty law, were conceived by Kennedy. The spirits of Roosevelt and Truman were also prominent in the hall, and when foreign problems were discussed that of Woodrow Wilson hovered in the air.

But even Johnson's critics granted that his role in the Atlantic City convention contributed much to its success. The platform reflected all his ideas on the social and economic responsibilities of government; he marched to his coronation with the speed and dexterity to be expected of one of the master politicians of our era; and his dramatically timed utterance of the name Hubert H. Humphrey instantly made the Minnesota senator his running mate.

Yet all the while the Democrats were not completely confident. A deep inner apprehension was fitfully visible. The fear was that Goldwater might appeal to powerful American emotions.

Hence it was that the Democrats at Atlantic City tried in their own way to reach down to basic emotions. They attacked Goldwater's reversals of speech as evidence of instability. They hit strongly the point that "recklessness" might precipitate a war that would destroy the allied nations and ruin half of America.

But still the apprehension that Goldwater is reaching powerful hidden currents of American feeling persisted, and helped explain why the Democrats at

Ohio Traffic Mishaps Take Total of 19 Lives

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Traffic accidents took a grim leap back to normal over the weekend, claiming 19 lives across the state.

A weekend ago, only seven died in traffic accidents.

The last weekend of summer also claimed five other lives for a total of 24 dead.

The deaths reflected the change of seasons. Two persons died in gun accidents, a sign of the hunting season. One person was drowned.

A revolutionary ship developed by the U. S. Navy races over the water atop a supporting layer of compressed air bubbles.

Atlantic City took such flattering notice of the columnists and commentators jeered in San Francisco.

The Republican candidate asked that voters be given a clear-cut choice this year. The Democrats responded at Atlantic City. A clear-cut choice is assuredly visible between Hubert Humphrey and William E. Miller as aspirants for the vice presidency, and possible succession to the presidency. Outside the defense program, the platforms have few areas of agreement.

The Republicans pointed to a "mounting assault of expanding centralized power." The Democratic platform took the opposite stand by advocating a long series of federal aid programs.

And where does the Atlantic City convention leave the future character of the Democratic party? The Goldwater convention tried hard to revolutionize the GOP, and temporarily succeeded. Did not the Democrats have to take some counteraction? But Johnson refrained from altering the moderate, middle-of-the-road character of his party.

If the nomination of William Miller was intended to force him to select Robert Kennedy for running mate, it failed to do so. He chose Humphrey, a Westerner, a Protestant, and a liberal. If the authors of the Republican planks hoped to tempt the Democrats to some ripe, they again failed. The party platform is much that of 1956 and 1960.

Yet the Democratic party did take one memorable step toward a changed character in Atlantic City. It confirmed and enlarged its defiance of important elements in the South. The convention wrote a new chapter in the fascinating history of the special relations of the Democratic Party and the South.

The Democratic party was born under the leadership of two Southerners, Jefferson and Madison. It was given a new endowment of character and power by the Southerner Andrew Jackson.

Just over a hundred years ago such Southern fire-eaters as Robert Toombs, W. L. Yancey, and Jefferson Davis were splitting the Democratic party asunder as a prelude to the splitting of the nation.

Bracero's Trail Ending

Migratory labor has been an important facet of the American farm community for decades, in fact ever since the small family farm began to be dwarfed by the large corporate enterprise. Many economies of operation are inherent in large farms but they are at a disadvantage in acquiring sufficient help during peak harvest seasons to get the crops to market.

It is during this crucial period, when crops are ready to be harvested and will not wait for any man, when the migratory worker largely determines whether some farms will show a profit or a loss.

For the last 15 years at least, labor shortages were averted on many farms because the ranks of the domestic migratory farm workers were swelled by Mexican braceros.

That will end Dec. 31, when a new law will go into effect banning the braceros from the United States. The effect of this ban on many American farms could be revolutionary. Some farmers fear it might be disastrous.

Migrant farm laborers are employed in 33 states, but California and Texas rely on braceros most heavily, because they are also ports of entry for thousands who cross the Rio Grande to work on U. S. farms. Acutely aware that labor shortages are likely to occur next year without the bracero's presence, these states already are competing for available domestic migrants.

Strong competition for labor is only one of the effects of the new policy already being felt. In many areas the wage offered under contracts now being signed has increased from the prevailing 70 cents an hour to one dollar.

But the full effects will not be felt until next May, when the peak harvesting season for vegetables and fruits comes to the Southwest. That will be the first real trial for the farmers.

Another problem which could develop to major proportions is the bracero. After so many years of relatively luxurious living (most of the hundreds of thousands of Mexicans who worked in U. S. fields were so poor in their native land they were able to earn enough in a few months in the U. S. to support their families at home the remainder of the year), are the braceros going to stay home next year?

The prospect of a wholesale wetback invasion is the fly in the whole migrant labor problem. It may also be the undoing of the new migrant policy.

Uncooperative Farms

An interesting phenomenon is taking place in Soviet agriculture, as the Moscow planners more and more find it difficult to excuse severe deficiencies in the vital area.

What the phenomenon amounts to is that planned Soviet agriculture has failed and the officials responsible for it — from Khrushchev on down — are trying to introduce a watered down free enterprise climate to the farm while desperately trying to disguise it as something else.

It was along this line several years ago that Khrushchev popped Soviet eyeballs with his declaration that incentives to individual workers who produced more than others was permissible in Soviet society.

Now, as Soviet agriculture shows every sign of producing a record only slightly better than its dismal failure of 1963, the Soviet dictator has announced still further farm reforms to augment his crash program to increase production of fertilizer and insecticides unveiled last December.

The Soviet leader proposes a reversal of the successful campaign he carried on in the 1950s to collectivize the farms. On the huge state farms, each worker is assigned a specialized task which keeps him isolated from the overall performance of the farm. Lacking a feeling of involvement in the crops they produce, farmers show a minimum of interest in their work.

To off set this apathy, Khrushchev now advocates a breakdown of the farms into small units which can be managed by fewer farmers who will be paid in relation to their output.

Shades of Adam Smith, who needs Karl Marx anyway?

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP) — With autumn officially starting, the question for most business firms today isn't how long will the current upswing last but how big will it grow.

Management is worrying more about how to handle the greater activity it sees in the months ahead than it is about the few threats that could cut the good times short.

Business worries are: How high will labor costs climb? How large should we build our inventories? How much plant expansion is called for by the rosy predictions? How much more are consumers going to spend now that they've had their fling at saving their tax cut bonanza?

But the signs of still greater activity ahead are the chief factors in today's business outlook — for the fall and into the winter and even the spring.

All three sectors of the economy seem set to spend more: —Consumers have been pushing up retail sales. And the personal income total rose faster in August than in the previous three months, to set a record high of $494 billion at a seasonally adjusted annual rate. This offers a fatter market to the makers and distributors of consumer goods and services.

—Business spending plans increase month by month. Buying of new equipment and building of new plants will give the general economy a nice boost. The forecast of an inventory buildup in some industries will mean greater production in the months ahead, even if it holds a threat of a slowdown when the buildup stocks are finally used.

—Government spending continues to rise at the state and local level. Federal spending has leveled off but still holds high. The possibility of international incidents could keep defense spending from dropping off.

Business thus feels sure that this fall will top last year's in many lines, from production to retailing.

The problem is whether prices will rise with labor costs and with consumer demand — and how much. Some price rises in industrial materials already have taken place as revived demand has dried up surpluses. Other increases could follow.

It was snowing like all get-out and a tramp shambled in to warm himself—and possibly to cadge a drink or two. He huddled by the stove and promptly fell asleep. A customer at the bar—one of those 'life of the party' boys—picked up a chunk of overripe limburger cheese and rubbed it across the stubble on the poor tramp's upper lip. Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

The fountain of youth has, for centuries, been the target for endless searches. Special mineral waters in far-distant lands, and fruits grown in the soil of sun-drenched islands have been pursued with the hope of finding the elusive formula for eternal youth.

Some adults are actually glad to have youth well behind them. There are others who feel that "youth should not be wasted on the young."

Today the phenomenon of the aging process is being studied, not as a matter of vanity, but rather to sustain good health for longer periods of productive living.

Enlightening knowledge of the processes of aging is now claiming the attention and absorbing interest of chemists and physicians who are working with body proteins and nucleic acids.

These have virtually revolutionized the knowledge of heredity, growth and aging.

Nucleic acid is said to hold the answer to some of the characteristics of aging. Why does the body function slow down with age? Why is there a loss of elasticity and tissue? Why does bone and cartilage become more brittle? Why do the blood vessels become clogged with plaques of calcium?

Why is the aging body less resistant to disease and injury? The complex molecules of body protein and nucleic acids seem in theory to possess the

Price of Freeing Cardinal

By John Chamberlain

In 1957 there were stories out of Hungary that Cardinal Mindszenty might leave his refuge in the U. S. Legation at Budapest, where he had been sheltered since the Russians had crushed the anti-Communist uprising of 1956. Four years later, in 1961, there were hints that the Hungarian Communist government might "pardon" the Cardinal and permit him to depart for Rome.

In Pope John XXIII's last year there was another flurry of speculation that the Cardinal was about to be freed. The rumors were revived again last April, when conversations between the Vatican emissaries and the Hungarian government were reported.

The important thing about all the stories of Cardinal Mindszenty's imminent departure from his asylum in the American Legation is that the Cardinal never went. Now there is another spate of rumors that, in the wake of the recent accord between the Vatican and Hungary on Catholic rights, the Cardinal will indeed go. Well, maybe. If he does (and no one can definitely say that he won't have turned up in Rome by the time this column is in print), the important question to ask will be: "Did the Cardinal get his price for agreeing to go into exile?"

Back in April, taking a chance on the lapse of time between writing a column and its publication, we said on good authority that the Cardinal wouldn't leave unless five conditions were met by the Kadar Hungarian government. Number One, the Cardinal was insisting that he be allowed to return, at least briefly, to his seat at Esztergom. Number Two was that he be permitted to name his own successor as Primate of Hungary before going on to Rome. Three, he demanded rehabilitation as a Hungarian patriot, not a mere amnesty. Four, he insisted that Catholic seminaries in Hungary should be allowed to pick their own students without Communist interference. And five, he asked that the five vacant bishoprics in Hungary should be filled with his own choices, not those of the Kadar regime.

To a certain extent, the Mindszenty intransigence has paid off in the accord just signed by the Vatican and the Hungarian government. Six Vatican appointments or promotions to important church posts inside Hungary have been accepted by the government without cavil, which would seem to imply that the Cardinal has been at least partially gratified in his wish to see the Catholic Church form its own hierarchy. But if the Cardinal were to leave for Rome without obtaining other concessions, it would still be a defeat for him.

According to the Cardinal's friends, two men in particular, Bishops Bertalan Badalki of Veszprem and Josef Petery of Vaz, must be rehabilitated and restored to active church work before the question of control over the hierarchy can be settled to the Mindszenty specifications. And the Cardinal himself must be permitted to go back to Esztergom in a grand gesture of recognition that he has all along been the rightful head of the church in Hungary and has never been a traitor even when opposing the use of Soviet tanks to crush rebellion.

The Cardinal is now seventy-two years old. Since he has never capitulated to anybody, it would not be in character for him to surrender now. He has withstood imprisonment by the Bela Kun Communist regime at the end of World War I, he lived through a period of incarceration by the Nazis in 1944, and again he held fast to his integrity in 1948, when the Communists jailed him once more. Before signing the accord with the government for the church, Monsignor Agostino Casaroli, Papal undersecretary for ecclesiastical affairs, visited Cardinal Mindszenty at the American Legation, which could indicate that the Vatican still gives the Cardinal a veto power on decisions affecting Hungary.

If both the Vatican and the Kadar regime agree to let Mindszenty actively resume his Esztergom archbishopric or to appoint his successor there, it will be a real victory not only for Cardinal but for the West. But if the Cardinal leaves for Rome without satisfaction on one of these two points, it will be a sign that the Communists have won again.

Peking Bidding To Be Boss of World's Reds

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Red China is bidding to eclipse Moscow as the inspiration of Revolutionaries and power-hungry opportunists in Africa, Asia and Latin America.

The Peking thrusts, bold and uninhibited, have produced a head-on clash. The Chinese accuse Soviet leadership of challenging their right to spearhead revolution in those areas.

Strong Chinese intrusion, particularly in sub-Saharan Africa, has complicated already confused situations and made the struggle over the continent's future a three-sided cold war.

Chinese propaganda preaches the doctrine that armed violence is the only way to revolution. To men thirsting for power, this is more attractive than the idea of slower revolutionary development, or the ponderous clumsiness of a Soviet penetration reminiscent of Victorian imperialism.

In Asia, the Chinese have captured the loyalty of the great majority of Communist leaders except in India, which has special problems with China.

In Latin America, the collapse of Communist hopes to gain power in Chile through electoral processes has aroused bitterness among extreme Communist and Castroite element and has given new impetus to the doctrine of protracted armed warfare. But the Chinese interference in Latin America may be damaging the world Communist cause by frightening other elements into common action against the threat of violence.

In Africa, Chinese influence is a source of concern to the United States and Britain, but it is at the same time a sore trial to the Russians. The Kremlin has labored for footholds on the continent, which Moscow seems to regard as a decisive sector in the cold war struggle.

The All-China Youth Federation says Moscow has "made unbridled attacks" on Chinese activities among youth in underdeveloped countries. A letter to the Soviet youth organization the Komsomol, contended these activities dealt "direct and most powerful blows at imperialism headed by the United States," but that the Russians were hostile to this "simply because politically these regional activities are anti-imperialist and do not follow your baton."

Indeed, Chinese activity has complicated Soviet policy planning on Africa. The Chinese indutiously spread the word that Soviet economic aid in the dark continent is dangerous to new countries because it helps maintain "reactionary" governments. To revolutionaries, a reactionary government could be any regime trying to keep itself in power.

Peking propaganda insists "revolution cannot be exported." But agitation, agents propaganda and money — tools of revolution — can be. Peking's efforts in the underdeveloped world look like this:

LATIN AMERICA:
Chinese infiltration of personnel and money may be nominal but the Chinese lie has captivated many among the extreme left elements. Experts say much propaganda, matching and echoing that of Castro's Cuba, ports into Latin America calling for armed revolution, guerrilla warfare and constant violent pressure on established regimes.

Eduardo Gallegos Mancera, a Venezuelan Communist Politburo member, visited Peking in August and was lionized there. He echoed the Chinese view that only violence pays off and paraphrased Mao Tse-tung by saying that "only through the barrel of a gun can we compel U.S. imperialism to give up Venezuela." Venezuela is expected new trouble from armed Communist-led guerrillas. Gallegos Mancera has pledged them to "protracted guerrilla warfare in the rural areas and armed struggle in the cities."

AFRICA:
Established governments and Western experts accuse the Red Chinese of supplying money, propaganda and other revolutionary equipment to restless elements.

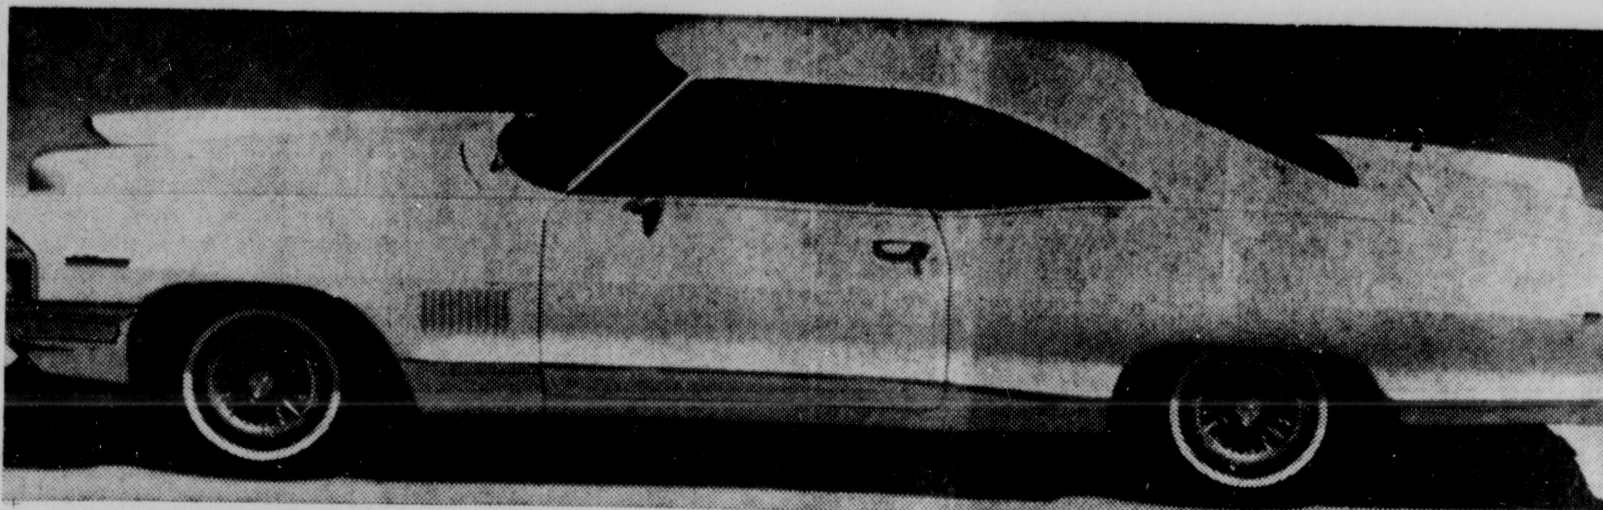

Red Chinese inspiration is evident in the rebel movement of the Congo (Leopoldville), where insurrectionary forces have proclaimed a "People's Republic" at Stanleyville, with a man who now calls himself Comrade Christophe Gbenye as president. His army calls itself the People's Liberation Army, also in the Red Chinese style.

In the neighboring Brazzaville Congo, a "National Liberation Council" helps direct the Stanleyville-based rebellion. Leopoldville Premier Moise Tshombe charges that Chinese Communists both in Brazzaville Congo and Burundi are directly involved in fomenting the rebellion.

In Kenya, Chinese diplomats came under fire for issuing statements denouncing the Americans and the Tshombe government of the Congo. Mar of the Kenya African Democratic Union, said the Chinese openly supported the Congo rebels and were capable of similar activity in Kenya.

Peking propaganda pours into Africa proclaiming enthusiastic support for a variety of what it calls "National Liberation Movements" in places like Portuguese Angola, Portuguese Guinea, Mozambique and other areas.

ASIA:
There is little room left for doubt that so far as Communists are concerned, Peking calls the tune in Asia. Most Communists side with the Chinese there. The Japanese party has systematically purged pro-Moscow elements, and now is joining with the powerful Indonesian party in sticking verbal needles into the hide of Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Perhaps now the 1964 presidential campaign, bumping along with little fire and less light, will finally get heated up.

The day after he got the nomination Sen. Barry Goldwater predicted there'd be some "brickbats flying around all over the place" in this campaign.

He has been flinging some at President Johnson who has tried to ignore most of them by using this tactic:

Stay above the strife, avoid personalities, talk generalities, and don't say anything to antagonize Republicans who don't like Goldwater and might come over to his side.

This has made for a dull campaign, although the tactic is understandable. Since Johnson is away ahead of Goldwater in the polls, without any slam-banging on his part, he can ask: "Why tamper with success?"

But the restraint must have galled him for now he has announced he will campaign all over the country.

He told newsmen Monday he will discuss issues and not personalities. That resolve may not last long if Goldwater gets rougher.

Goldwater started roughing Johnson during the Republican convention when he called him a "faker" and a "phony."

But, as if he had never said this, a few hours later Goldwater was saying:

"I intend to conduct a vigorous campaign. It will not be a personal attack. It will be waged on issues solely."

"I've never believed anybody enhances their position or their beliefs by delving into rumors and gossip about the opponents."

But time passed and Goldwater was complaining about Johnson's broadcast to the nation that he had ordered retaliation against North Viet Nam for attacks on U.S. ships in the Gulf of Tonkin:

"I cannot imagine a Republican president warning the Communists in advance of an action such as that recently taken in response to the attacks on our ships. Certainly the element of surprise was shattered by the advance warning."

He found fault with Johnson's acceptance speech at Atlantic City because he "did not even mention communism" and with his Labor Day speech because he had neglected to mention "freedom" as an element of Johnson's "Great Society."

Goldwater repeatedly has talked of scandal in Washington, saying the White House "is under a dark cloud" with the "shadow of scandal" falling across it.

He has referred to Johnson as "Whitewash Lyndon" and added: "I want to clean up the government; he wants to clean out the Treasury."

In the heart of depressed Appalachia Goldwater called Johnson's announced war on poverty a "phony" designed to "further selfish political ambitions."

Up till now it has been Johnson's vice presidential running mate, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, who has had to do the in-fighting for the Democratic ticket, either with mockery or direct swipes at Goldwater.

Some Democratic senators, like J. W. Fulbright of Arkansas, have pelted Goldwater, and so have some Cabinet members like Dean Rusk and Robert S. McNamara, secretaries of state and defense.

Rusk and McNamara called Goldwater "irresponsible" when some of his comments on Johnson's orders to naval commanders in the Tonkin area were interpreted as meaning he said Johnson told them they could use atomic weapons.

By James Marlow

It was in this same instance that Johnson made perhaps his severest public criticism of Goldwater.

He accused him of making "loose charges without any shadow of justification," thereby "doing disservice to our national security and disservice to peace and, for that matter, a disservice to the entire free world."

Monday night Goldwater, a few hours after Johnson said he would now really start campaigning, stuck another needle in him.

Goldwater "dared" Johnson to debate him — "I demand of him — Debate."

—Although in delivery he changed the "demand" of his prepared text to "ask."

Only last January Goldwater said he wouldn't debate an opponent if he was president.

"I wouldn't debate him," Goldwater said. "Why buy his audience? Let him get his own."

Cable Car Runs Wild In Frisco

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The cable car stopped suddenly and began a wild, fast backward roll down Russian Hill. Passengers screamed and shouted. Some jumped off and fell in a tangle of arms and legs.

"All I saw was the rail going fast, and I said 'This is it,'" Susie Baer recalled later. For Mrs. Baer, a 52-year-old widow, and 35 others it was a frightening experience Sunday when the car lost its grip on the cable and began rolling free down a steep block of Hyde Street between Chestnut and Lombard.

After more than half a block the operator halted the car with a rarely used last-resort emergency brake — a metal bar that drops from the car into the cable slot. It jammed so tightly it had to be cut out with a welder's torch.

Sixteen persons, most of them children, vaulted from the front and rear open platforms to the pavement. They tumbled into heaps in the street.

...about Interconnection

IT HELPS ELECTRIC COMPANIES SERVE YOU BETTER!

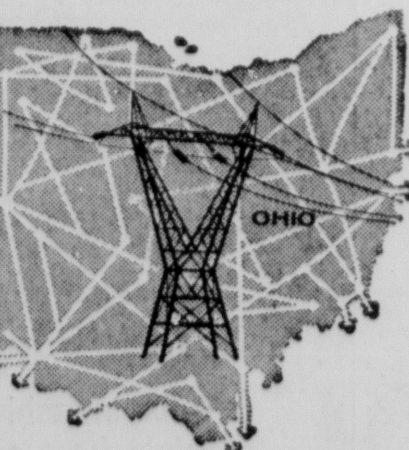

You get improved service because Ohio's eight investor-owned electric companies are interconnected.

Interconnection enables the companies to share power with each other through a large network of transmission lines.

Ohio is a key state in the biggest of the nation's power pools, started more than 30 years ago. This group now includes utilities serving 39 states east of the Rockies.

Interconnection directly benefits you in many ways. Here are two: (1) It increases the dependability of your electric service. (2) It provides savings by reducing the amount of standby facilities needed by your electric company...helping to keep electricity low in price.

This is a significant example of what is being done by investor-owned companies, helping each other in a neighborly manner to serve you better!

MRS. CARL LEE WEST

Miss Carol Lee Ginther, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Ginther, Route 1, Kingston, and Mr. Carl Lee West, son of Mr. and Mrs. Luster West, Chillicothe, were united in marriage 7:30 p. m. Sept. 12 in the Salem Methodist Church.

The Rev. James Boor performed the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with arrangements of white gladioli, mums and fern flanked by candleabra.

A program of appropriate nuptial selections was presented by Betty Connell, vocalist, and Sharon Sharrett, organist.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a floor length gown of white Chantilly lace over taffeta fashioned with a moulded bodice enhanced with a scalloped Sabrina neckline and long sleeves tapering to points over the hands. The bouffant skirt was highlighted in back with tiers of ruffles. A crown of pearls and orange blossoms held her veil of illusion and she carried a white Bible, topped with white baby mums. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls.

Mrs. Barbara Parish, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a dress of pink chiffon over taffeta fashioned with a scalloped lace neckline, long sleeves and bouffant skirt. She carried a bouquet of pink and white baby mums. Bridesmaids were Mrs. John Bailey, sister of the bride and Miss Becky West, sister of the bridegroom. They wore dresses styled identically to the honor attendant's in blue. All wore matching veiled hats, and each carried a bouquet of baby mums.

Mr. Jerry Parish served as best man. Mr. Tom Cutright, and Mr. Len Brightwell, both of Chillicothe, were ushers.

The bride's mother wore a three-piece bone-colored brocade suit with matching accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a brown and green print dress with black accessories. Each wore a white carnation corsage.

There were 110 guests present for the reception held in the church social rooms following the ceremony. A four-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom centered the bride's table. Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Note Still a Necessity!

DEAR ABBY: My name is Dickie and I am ten years old. I went to Montana to visit my aunt and uncle for two weeks this summer and I had a very good time. They own a ranch and they let me ride a horse. They don't have any kids of their own and they let me do just about anything I wanted to do. When I got home, my mother said I had to write them a bread-and-butter letter. This is a letter saying thanks for the good time. Well, I started about 100 of these bread-and-butter letters and they all ended up sounding so stupid I tore them up and called them long distance on the telephone and told them thanks again for the neat time. The call came to $6.70. I didn't think it would cost that much but that is what it came to on the telephone bill. I want to draw $6.70 out of my savings account but my mother won't let me. She says that was no bread-and-butter letter and I have to write one anyway. Do you think this is fair?

DICKIE

DEAR DICKIE: Your mother is trying to teach you something that everyone should know. It is necessary to write a bread-and-butter letter after you've been a guest. Your short-cut showed refreshing (if extravagant) ingenuity, but it did not do the job of a "bread and Butter" letter. Mind your mother, Dickie.

DEAR ABBY: My husband came home from a convention with LIPSTICK on his cigar holder! How about that?

JEALOUS

DEAR JEALOUS: You have nothing to worry about. A chronic Casanova would have removed the evidence.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I just had the biggest fight of the year. We have two children, one and two, and I am expecting again. My husband wants to move to the country to a two-room house. It isn't even a modern house and you have to carry water a full block. The closest neighbor is 15 miles away and the store is 35 miles away. We have only one car, which he takes to work. There is no phone in the house and he says he isn't putting one in. (What if one of the children needs a doctor?) He says we will have no TV and not even a radio as I will have plenty to keep me busy. He says I'll have to make a vegetable garden so we can have fresh vegetables. His reason for all this is that I have too many friends. Abby, I have only one friend and she lives in my block. I visit her maybe an hour three times a week as she is an invalid. And I always take both children with me. My husband lets me go to the store only once a week and as soon as I get home he asks me who I talked to, what they looked like and what we said. His mother says I am his wife and it is my duty to live where he wants me to. Can you help me?

TRAPPED
DEAR TRAPPED: If your explanation of your husband's reasons for a move to the country is accurate, your hubby is a candidate for the couch. YOU don't need help—HE does! So help me.

Ohio Escapee Faces Hearing

LOS ANGELES, Calif. (AP)—A hearing has been set for Oct. 21 for Walter Cecil Fugett, 53, accused of taking a 17-year leave of absence from an Ohio prison.

Fugett was freed Monday on $250 bail—reduced from $2,500—pending the hearing.

Fugett, who used the name Roy Denton was arrested on a drunk charge Sept. 4. The charge, brought by his second wife, caused him to be fingerprinted—and discovered.

Fugett, who has six children by his present wife, was sentenced to a 1-to-20 prison term at the London, Ohio, prison farm for attempted murder of his first wife, also mother of six children. That was in 1947. Fugett walked away from the prison farm, went to Tennessee and married his present wife. His lawyer predicted his client will be granted clemency.

Education's Sales Tax Hike Boomed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The drive by educational groups in the state to raise sales taxes headed for 11 Ohio cities today—the first steps down the long, long trail toward the Legislature.

The groups, combined under the banner of the Ohio Council for Education, want to hike the state's retail sales tax from 3 to 4 per cent and thus add at least $100 million a year for public schools spending and teacher pay raises.

The council, which says it represents more than 800,000 members of several educational organizations, held the first of its special "briefings" Monday night for newsmen, legislators and candidates for the Legislature.

Next stops: Athens, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Dayton, Akron, Cambridge, Mansfield, Youngstown and Toledo.

The briefings slated this week and next, are part of the council's drive to get the sales tax boost before the next Ohio General Assembly, which convenes in January.

The Legislature is scheduled to convene in special session Nov. 9, but Gov. James A. Rhodes has restricted the subjects to be taken up and the sales tax boost is not among them.

Tax Rebate Is Pushed

CLEVELAND (AP)—A number of Ohio cities are going to ask the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio to order private utilities to pass 1964 tax savings on to the consumers.

Representatives of the Ohio Municipal League and of the Cuyahoga County Mayors and City Managers Association voted Monday to file a complaint with PUCO asking for the reduction.

If approved, the reduction would amount to $10 a year for the average household served by the Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co. and Ohio Bell Telephone Co., according to an aide at City Hall, where the vote was taken.

On Aug. 4, the PUCO announced it would demand and across-the-board decrease but would examine each utility company's situation in light of the tax cut.

Cancer Society Names Delegate

A resident of Columbus was elected Saturday at a meeting of American Cancer Society leaders in Chillicothe to the society's top-level volunteer group in Ohio. It was announced today by Mrs. Georgia Walker, executive secretary of the Pickaway County Unit of the American Cancer Society.

Dr. Jack W. Miles Columbus, who starts a two-year term next month, will help develop and coordinate the $2,000,000 yearly state-wide cancer control programs of the ACS Ohio Division Board of Trustees. He will represent the nine counties in the Ohio Medical District No. 10 on the 66-member board.

In other activity local American Cancer Society volunteers attending the meeting helped to launch the fifth year of follow-up of the nationwide Cancer Prevention Study, involving one million Americans.

Representing the Pickaway County Unit in addition to Mrs. Walker, was Mrs. Robert Smith as medical delegate and Charles Felkey as lay delegate.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The first of five light-reflecting satellites, to be used for more precise mapping of the earth's surface and gravitational field, may be launched in the next week or two from the Pacific Missile Range in California.

Called the Beacon explorer — BE-B — it will be launched into a near-polar orbit 620 miles above the earth, inclined 80 degrees to the equator.

The 120-pound BE-B will use "Doppler" radio signals to measure the effect of irregularities in the earth's gravitational field.

Highly concentrated beams of lights, called lasers, to determine the spacecraft's position in space more accurately than is possible with conventional radio means.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democrats in the Senate have made it possible for Sen. Strom Thurmond to retain two committee seats despite his decision to switch to the Republican party.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield announced Monday that ratios were being switched from 12-5 to 11-6 on the Armed Services and Commerce committees.

This will enable the South Carolina senator to remain on these committees — if the Republicans want him to — without his displacing another GOP committee member.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A score or more of surprised tourists walked around the White House driveway with President Johnson Monday after he saw them in the gate and invited them in.

Johnson, his two beagles, the tourists, reporters, photographers and White House aides joined the walk.

The President had gone to the gate to shake hands when he suddenly said: "Would you like to come in and walk around the grounds with us?"

"Oh, wonderful," one woman said. "How gracious of you."

As Johnson escorted the tourists back home and distributed some LBJ lapel pins, one woman called out: "Take good care of yourself, Mr. President." Johnson and the reporters then walked three more laps before they called it quits.

East German Premier Dies

Grotewohl Long Tied to Socialism

BERLIN (AP) — Otto Grotewohl, 70-year-old prime minister of Communist East Germany, died Monday at the age of 70. Thin-haired and bespectacled, Grotewohl had almost completely withdrawn from government functions. Willi Stoph, the deputy has taken over many of the duties of Grotewohl.

The prime minister, or chairman of the Council of Ministers as the official position is called, is the second man in East Germany. The boss is Walter Ulbricht, chairman of the State Council.

Grotewohl joined the German Social Democratic party before World War I. He slowly rose to state ministries in that party in Brunswick, where he was born March 11, 1894.

During the Nazi period, Grotewohl was arrested several times and imprisoned for illegal work in the Social Democratic party. After World War II he became head of that party in the Soviet occupation zone of Germany — now East Germany.

In 1946, Grotewohl made history by signing the merger of the Social Democrats with the Communists in East Germany. The new party, wholly Communist-controlled, was called the Socialist Unity party. Ulbricht is the first party secretary.

In 1948, Grotewohl was made president of the German People's Council, a chamber that a year later enacted a constitution for the Communist-controlled German Democratic Republic. Stalin hailed the new satellite. Grotewohl was named premier.

Troy Home Economist Dies at Demonstration

HIGHLAND PARK, Ill. (AP) — A Troy, Ohio, home economist, Doris Quackenbush, 56, collapsed and died Monday while demonstrating kitchen equipment at a convention here. Hotel officials said Miss Quackenbush, an employee of the Hobart Manufacturing Co., Troy, apparently suffered a heart attack.

Multicounty Training Plan Is Given OK

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Atty. Gen. William Saxbe said today commissioners of two or more counties may join in operating a training center and workshop for the mentally deficient.

The informal opinion went to Prosecutor Harold E. Christman of Sidney who asked about legality of such an arrangement under study by Shelby and Auglaize County commissioners.

Christman said Shelby County commissioners have been sending retarded pupils to Auglaize County for training but that facilities there have become inadequate.

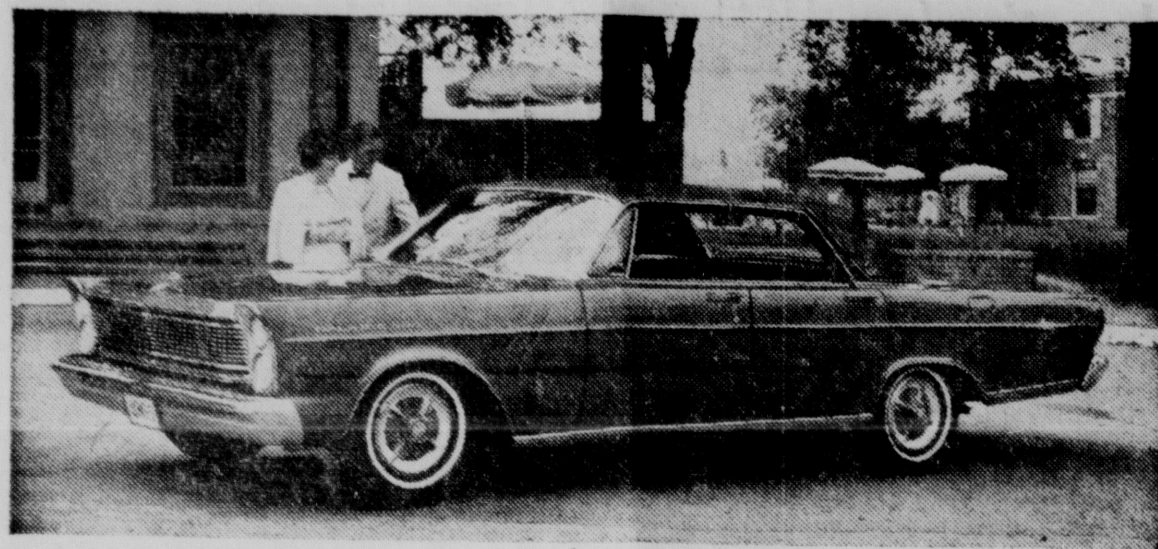

Saxbe said in answer to another portion of the inquiry that statute does not provide for creation of a special taxing district enabling the two counties to levy a tax and sell bonds to finance new facilities.

In another opinion to Prosecutor Clyde W. Osborne of Mahoning County, Saxbe said the same person could not hold the office of county treasurer and treasurer of a community college district at the same time. Saxbe said the dual positions would be incompatible under Ohio law.

Appeals Court Studies Elyria Murder Case

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP) — The appeal of John E. Woodards, 26, convicted Jan. 31 of first-degree murder, is being studied by the Ninth District Court of Appeals. Woodards, sentenced to death, is accused of the assault slaying of 85-year-old Mrs. Margaret VanArsdale, a widow, in her Columbia Township home in July, 1963. Defense attorneys charged Monday that 17 errors were made in the eight-day jury trial. They contend Woodards' constitutional rights were violated because authorities questioned him after his arrest in the absence of a defense lawyer.

Actress Passes Age 30, Gives Thought to Future

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "When you get to be 30, you begin to realize that you only live once. Then you must start to make the most of your life."

Leslie Caron was back in Hollywood where she had first met fame at 18 as Gene Kelly's dancing partner in the Oscar-winning "An American in Paris." Always a thoughtful girl, she is more reflective at 33, more conscious of the direction she wants her career to follow.

The career is going fine. Once counted out as a star in Hollywood, she has returned to co-star in films with Cary Grant and Rock Hudson. That's as high-powered company as any actress could wish.

She was seated in her dressing-room trailer on the set of "The Favor" and doing a scene with Hudson. The actor was not present. He was a hundred feet away in a hotel-room set, talking to her on the telephone. Usually telephone scenes are played with dead phones, but Leslie supplied the dialogue on the other end as an assist to Rock.

Between calls she spoke of her new post-30 life.

"It all started with 'The L-Shaped Room,'" said Leslie, who received an academy nomination and critical acclaim for playing the unwed mother in the British film. "It is amazing how much difference one film can make."

"Now producers think I can do anything. I have been offered a movie in which I would play three different roles of women in India. Another would cast me as the mother of Utrillo — at a time when the artist was 21 years old!"

She has indeed progressed from the shy gamine who used to take ballet lessons in the basement of the garden court apartments on Hollywood Boulevard. She enjoyed these MGM days, especially the making of films like "Lili" and "Gigi." But she was not unhappy to give up ballet.

"One day I gave away 40 pairs of dancing slippers," she recalled. "I have had to buy two or three since then, but I never have returned to performing ballet."

A LADY, NOW — Britain's Princess Anne, 14, looks every bit a lady in Athens at the wedding of Greek King Constantine and Denmark's Princess Anne-Marie.

U.S. Lacks More Data On Tonkin

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson told reporters Monday that they have all the information the government has on the new incident in the Gulf of Tonkin in which U.S. destroyers warned and then fired on unidentified approaching vessels which disappeared.

The President was asked at a news conference whether he had received any specific information on the incident and, if so, what he thought the motives were.

"I can't search minds," the President replied. "I don't have a chance to interrogate and determine what the motives were."

He said the story was that the captains of two U.S. destroyers reported their radar showed the approach of ships, that warning shots were fired, the ships continued approaching on either side, and shots were fired and the ships disappeared.

Johnson said he knew nothing about a report by the Soviet news agency Tass that three vessels were sunk.

The President went over the whole history of the incident, even though he said there was no more information than that received by newsmen last Saturday.

Johnson Bares Campaign Plan

Over 30 States To Be Visited

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson says that he is going to go out to talk to the people and "look them in the eye," campaigning in as many states as he can, probably more than 30.

The President outlined some of his upcoming travels at a news conference.

He also said he is not overconvinced about a campaign in which polls show him leading Republican nominee Barry Goldwater.

The presidential travel plans — he said they are subject to some adjustment — start with a trip Tuesday to address the United Steelworkers convention in Atlantic City.

On Friday, Johnson said, he will go to El Paso, Tex., to join the president of Mexico in unveiling a marker for the boundary of the once-disputed Chamizal area. On the same day, he will travel back to Oklahoma to dedicate the Eufaula Dam, 30 miles from Muskogee. He also will go to Oklahoma City and speak at the state fair that day.

On Monday, Sept. 28, Johnson said, he hopes to visit the New England States. He indicated he would start at Providence, R.I., with a stop at Brown University and a visit to the elderly former Sen. Francis Green.

Brown is celebrating its 200th anniversary and Johnson will address a convocation. That is, he said, he will "if the good Lord's willin' and the creeks don't rise."

Then he said, he would like to go on to Hartford, Conn., and make stops in Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont before returning the same day to Washington.

The President mentioned no stopping points in latter states.

Dems' Door-to-Door Fund Drive Is 'Success'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Democratic leader says the Ohio party's door-to-door fund-raising drive Sunday was "a tremendous success."

Frank Hutson of Washington Court House, the drive director, said although figures are not available he hopes to have a substantial report by Wednesday.

"All indications are that people contributed real well," Hutson said of the drive, conducted in 72 counties with an estimated 35,000 volunteers participating.

The Roman tax system was all inclusive at its height, with charges on land, property and income, plus poll, luxury, temple and road fees.

East German Premier Dies

Grotewohl Long Tied to Socialism

BERLIN (AP) — Otto Grotewohl, 70-year-old prime minister of Communist East Germany, died Monday at the age of 70. Thin-haired and bespectacled, Grotewohl had almost completely withdrawn from government functions. Willi Stoph, the deputy has taken over many of the duties of Grotewohl.

The prime minister, or chairman of the Council of Ministers as the official position is called, is the second man in East Germany. The boss is Walter Ulbricht, chairman of the State Council.

Grotewohl joined the German Social Democratic party before World War I. He slowly rose to state ministries in that party in Brunswick, where he was born March 11, 1894.

During the Nazi period, Grotewohl was arrested several times and imprisoned for illegal work in the Social Democratic party. After World War II he became head of that party in the Soviet occupation zone of Germany — now East Germany.

In 1946, Grotewohl made history by signing the merger of the Social Democrats with the Communists in East Germany. The new party, wholly Communist-controlled, was called the Socialist Unity party. Ulbricht is the first party secretary.

In 1948, Grotewohl was made president of the German People's Council, a chamber that a year later enacted a constitution for the Communist-controlled German Democratic Republic. Stalin hailed the new satellite. Grotewohl was named premier.

Multicounty Training Plan Is Given OK

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Atty. Gen. William Saxbe said today commissioners of two or more counties may join in operating a training center and workshop for the mentally deficient.

The informal opinion went to Prosecutor Harold E. Christman of Sidney who asked about legality of such an arrangement under study by Shelby and Auglaize County commissioners.

Christman said Shelby County commissioners have been sending retarded pupils to Auglaize County for training but that facilities there have become inadequate.

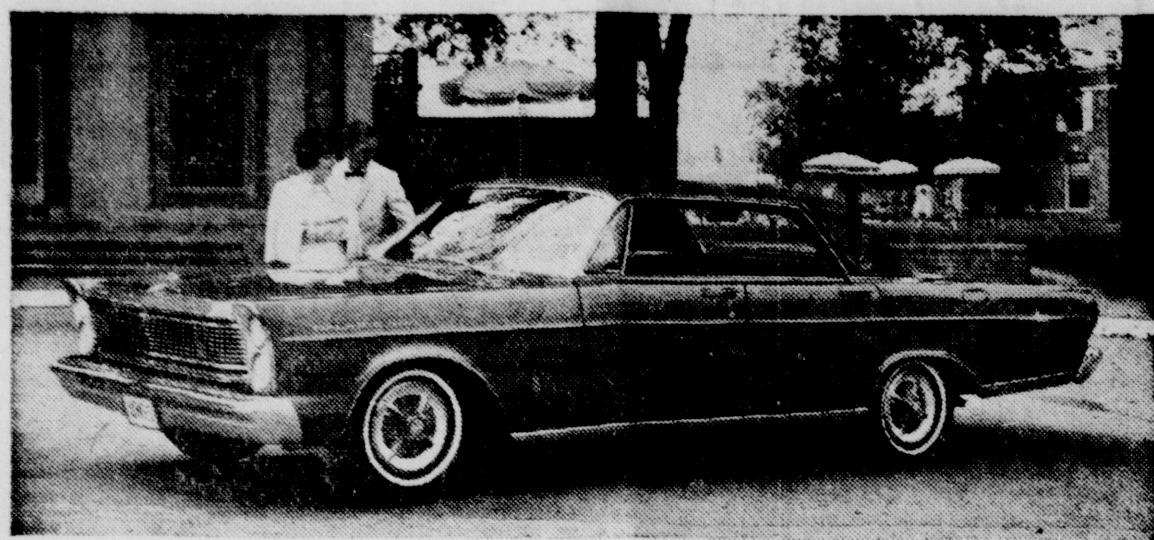

Saxbe said in answer to another portion of the inquiry that statute does not provide for creation of a special taxing district enabling the two counties to levy a tax and sell bonds to finance new facilities.

In another opinion to Prosecutor Clyde W. Osborne of Mahoning County, Saxbe said the same person could not hold the office of county treasurer and treasurer of a community college district at the same time. Saxbe said the dual positions would be incompatible under Ohio law.

Appeals Court Studies Elyria Murder Case

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP) — The appeal of John E. Woodards, 26, convicted Jan. 31 of first-degree murder, is being studied by the Ninth District Court of Appeals. Woodards, sentenced to death, is accused of the assault slaying of 85-year-old Mrs. Margaret VanArsdale, a widow, in her Columbia Township home in July, 1963. Defense attorneys charged Monday that 17 errors were made in the eight-day jury trial. They contend Woodards' constitutional rights were violated because authorities questioned him after his arrest in the absence of a defense lawyer.

Actress Passes Age 30, Gives Thought to Future

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "When you get to be 30, you begin to realize that you only live once. Then you must start to make the most of your life."

Leslie Caron was back in Hollywood where she had first met fame at 18 as Gene Kelly's dancing partner in the Oscar-winning "An American in Paris." Always a thoughtful girl, she is more reflective at 33, more conscious of the direction she wants her career to follow.

The career is going fine. Once counted out as a star in Hollywood, she has returned to co-star in films with Cary Grant and Rock Hudson. That's a high-powered company as any actress could wish.

She was seated in her dressing-room trailer on the set of "The Favor" and doing a scene with Hudson. The actor was not present. He was a hundred feet away in a hotel-room set, talking to her on the telephone. Usually telephone scenes are

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson told reporters Monday they have all the information the government has on the new incident in the Gulf of Tonkin in which U.S. destroyers warned and then fired on unidentified approaching vessels which disappeared.

The President was asked at a news conference whether he had received any specific information on the incident and, if so, what he thought the motives were.

The Circleville Herald, Tues. Sept. 22, 1964
Circleville, Ohio

Rick Spires' 68 Is Best in Ohio Open Tourney

Circleville's Rick Spires, a 39-year-old pro who gave up golf teaching to sell newspapers, held a hefty four stroke lead today as the Ohio Open championship wheeled into the second round.

A sizzling 33-35-68 over Walnut Hill's 7,090 yard par 72 layout gave the former Pickaway County Club pro a lead over a field of more than 150.

Tom Cassidy, the current PCC pro, was five strokes off Spires' pace - setting 68. The runner-up last year, Cassidy was tied with eight other golfers.

Larry Cassidy was well back in the field with a 43-37-80.

EIGHT players were caught on the course by darkness and were forced to finish their rounds early this morning.

Spires credited his best round of tourney action ever to a hot putter and his first try at charting a course.

"I played here Friday to chart it and hit the ball good while scoring a 74 Sunday."

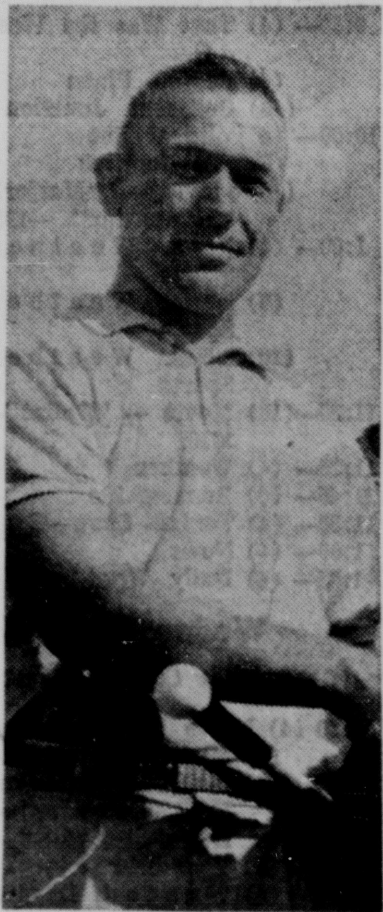

He needed only 26 putts - 11 on the front nine - as he came up with four birdies and a bogey for a three under count at the end of the first nine.

The father of three, (his 12-year-old daughter, Beth, and seven-year-old son, Jeff, have already taken up the game) said he was playing with a new set of Tony Lema irons.

Spires assisted Don Collins, owner of Upper Lansdowne Golf Links, Pickaway County's newest course, with the initial layout.

At his suggestion, a number of refinements, including ladies' tees on the longer holes, were added to the course.

An oddly-assorted trio of challengers was deadlocked at 72

back of the six-birdie shooter. At even par were Denny Shute, famed pro of the Akron Portage Club, several times winner of this event and twice national PGA champion; amateur Don Ogrizovich of Steubenville, Ohio University graduate who resumed playing in July after an 18-month layoff caused by injuries suffered in an auto accident; and amateur C.E. (Chuck) Smith, 29, of Reynoldsburg, a Purdue graduate who migrated here from Gary, Ind.

Darkness halted the first round play leaving a dozen players stranded on the long course. They were to resume in a "dawn patrol" action this morning, and some of them could ease into the top bracket.

Don Stickey of Columbus, who gained fame a few years ago by ousting Jack Nicklaus in the latter's last vain effort to win the Ohio amateur at Youngstown, was three under par for 17 holes; Bob Zimmerman of Dayton was even with the car, and two-time public links champion Tom Weiskopf of Bedford and Columbus was one over.

The top 25 professionals at the end of 72 holes will split up $4,500, with the top prize of $1,000 and 25th getting $40. A dozen amateurs will slice up $1,100, in prizes ranging from $25 to $250 in merchandise. The seniors, over the 36-hole route, will divide $400, with the winner getting $150.

The field will be cut to the low 60 professionals and the leading amateurs after today's play. The survivors go 36 holes Wednesday.

Each team now has won one in the best-of-seven series that shifts to Rochester tonight for the next three games.

Starter Tom Phoebe got credit for the victory. Jim Liggett took over the hero's role in the hitting department.

Phoebe got a tremendous relief job from Herman Starette, who took over in the sixth and pitched hitless ball the rest of the way to save the verdict. Liggett drove in three runs.

3 Aces Holed In Single Day

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—A hole-in-one — a golfing rarity — was accomplished Monday by three players at the Oak Hill Country Club.

Joseph Scanlon of Rochester, a retired tire dealer who is in his 70s, scored his ace on the 132-yard 4th hole of the club's West course, using No. 6 iron.

Carl Jone, a 52-year-old ice cream manufacturer from Rochester, put in a No. 6 iron shot on the East course's 161-yard 11th hole.

J. P. Scullin, 40, a dentist from Oswego, bagged a hole-in-one with a No. 7 iron on the 120-yard 15th hole of the East course.

Rochester Evens IL Playoff Count

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—The Rochester Red Wings squared the International League Governor's Cup playoff series Monday night with a 4-3 decision over the Syracuse Chiefs.

Each team now has won one in the best-of-seven series that shifts to Rochester tonight for the next three games.

Starter Tom Phoebe got credit for the victory. Jim Liggett took over the hero's role in the hitting department.

Redlegs Find Weakness in Phillies '9'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
It's taken 150 games but the National League-leading Philadelphia Phillies finally have revealed a weakness.

All the opposition has to do is get a man to third base. Then it's all downhill.

Cincinnati's Chico Ruiz reached third in the sixth inning Monday night and promptly became the second player in three games to beat the Phillies by stealing home.

Ruiz' theft and John Tsitouris' six-hit pitching gave the Reds a 1-0 victory and pulled second-place Cincinnati to within 5½ games of the Phillies, who were beaten by the Los Angeles Dodgers 4-3 Saturday night when Willie Davis stole home in the 16th inning.

In the only other game scheduled Monday, Rusty Staub drove in two runs and Ken Johnson pitched a four-hitter as the Houston Colts defeated San Francisco 3-1 for their fifth straight victory — and the third under new Manager Luman Harris.

The loss left the fourth-place Giants seven games back of the Phillies with only a dozen games remaining. The Phillies tangle with the Reds again tonight, seeking to move closer to their first pennant since 1950 sending Chris Short, 17-7 against Jim O'Toole, 15-7.

The American League pennant race resumes this afternoon when second-place Baltimore meets Detroit. The Orioles, one game behind the front-running New York Yankees, will start Milt Pappas, 15-5, against the Tigers' Hank Aguirre, 5-10.

The Yankees are scheduled for a two-nighter at Cleveland while third-place Chicago, trailing by two games, is at Los Angeles for a night game.

Tsitouris, who brought his record to 8-11 with his first shut-out of the season, was locked in a scoreless duel with Art Mahaffey, 12-9, until Ruiz darted home.

Chico led off the sixth with a single, moved to third on a single by Vada Pinson and, with Mahaffey pitching to Frank Robinson, suddenly broke for the plate. Mahaffey's throw was wide of the plate and skipped by catcher Clay Dalrymple.

Ruiz, however, was officially credited with his seventh steal of the season on a play that admittedly surprised everyone involved.

Johnson, now 11-16, was tagged for a homer by rookie Jim Hart in the fourth inning, then shackled the Giants on one hit the rest of the way.

Staub tied the score in the Colts' half of the fourth when he homered off Bob Bolin. Houston scored the tie-breaking run in the fifth on a single by Jim Wynn, a sacrifice and John Bateman's double.

The final Colt run scored in the eighth on a walk, Joe Morgan's single and a sacrifice fly by Staub.

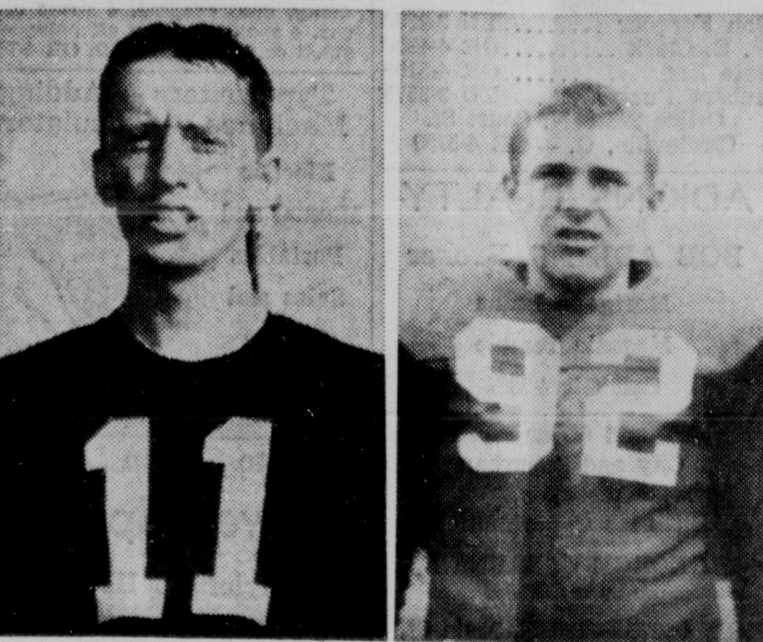

Welshman Faces Welter Champion

LONDON (AP) — Thousands of Welsh boxing fans arrived in London to root for Brian Curvis, their national idol, in his bid for Emile Griffith's world welterweight title tonight.

Griffith, the hard-hitting, 26-year-old New Yorker, is a 2-1 favorite to win the 15-rounder before a sellout crowd of 10,300 in Wembley's indoor stadium. The fight is scheduled to start about 3 p.m., EST.

The 27-year-old Welshman holds the British and Empire titles.

British Yacht Hopes Dashed By Americans

NEWPORT, R. I. (AP) — They held a post-mortem on the drowned America's Cup hopes of Sovereign.

The verdict, with no one dissenting — the better designed, equipped and sailed boat won.

Constellation was outstanding in outclassing the challenger from the Royal Thames Yacht Club in four straight races and never more so than in Monday's final race which she won by almost two miles or 15 minutes, 40 seconds over Rhode Island Sound.

It was a bitter defeat for all hands of the British entourage and Tony Boyden, who paid $300,000 to make Sovereign the finest challenger Britain could produce for the Cup that America has held without interruption for 113 years.

This was the 19th successful challenge in which the U.S. has won 60 of the 66 races held.

"We obviously were beaten because we weren't good enough in every facet—rigging, spars and sailing to some extent," said Boyden.

He would challenge again, Boyden said, only if he could be assured "if designers in Britain can come forward with designs we know are good enough to catch the Americans."

The prospect, he said was not encouraging.

Tribe Seeks To Guillotine Mighty Yanks

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Indians can drop the guillotine on the New York Yankees tonight and Wednesday night and possibly knock them out of the American League pennant race.

The teams square off here in back-to-back doubleheaders. New York, leading the second-place Baltimore Orioles by a game—and three ahead in the loss column—has only 14 contests left. Seven are against the Indians.

Cleveland and New York both are red hot, the Indians having won six of their last seven and the Yanks seven of their last eight.

Against the Yankees, however, Cleveland has been eminently unsuccessful, dropping nine games while winning only two. The Indians wind up the 1964 season in Yankee Stadium Oct. 2, 3 and 4.

Besides reaping revenge from the Yankees, Cleveland could go a long way toward getting fourth-place money, which is $500 per player. The Indians trail fourth-place Detroit by one game.

A good showing against the Yankees here also could be vital in the city's efforts to keep the team in Cleveland. Nothing would spur the sale of 1965 season tickets more than a Tribe sweep.

Jim Brown OKs Muslims

He's No Member, But Likes Views

CLEVELAND (AP) — Pro football star Jimmy Brown of the Cleveland Browns says he is not a member of the Black Muslims but supports the views of the Negro organization.

"Some people may not like what I have to say," the Negro fullback said Monday in explaining some statements he made on racial discrimination in this week's edition of Look Magazine.

"That doesn't matter to me," he went on. "The things had to be said. As far as football goes, it won't make any difference. If I can produce, it won't matter. And if I can't, then it doesn't matter either."

A spokesman for the National Football League club declined comment on the article, which is from a book authored by Brown entitled, "Off My Chest."

Among the things Brown, a $50,000-a-year player now in his eighth season with Cleveland, touched on:

—White racial attitudes — "I protest prejudice, but I am a prejudiced man. The white man has forced me to be prejudiced against him."

—Ex-coach Paul Brown — "Although I was billed as Paul's star performer, I had no relationship with him. I wanted to, but his aloofness put him beyond approach. . . my six years under Paul Brown were as much as I could stomach."

On the racial issue, Brown wrote:

"The first thing the white man must understand is the depth of our protest. Does he realize that the Black Muslim's basic attitude toward whites is shared by almost 98 per cent of the Negro population?"

The Black Muslim sect is a Negro group that advocates separation of the races and preaches a theory of Negro supremacy.

"I am not one of the Muslims," Brown said. "Yet I'm all for them because we need every possible element going for us. The more commotion, the better. Do I sound bitter? I am not in the least bitter. You don't have to be bitter to fight. If people throw rocks at your home, you don't have to be bitter to come out ready for action."

George Poole, former assistant trainer for Greentree Stable, has replaced Jimmy Jones as Calumet Farm's trainer. Jones is the new director of racing at Monmouth Park in Oceanport, N. J.

South African Bob Verwey, who joined the PGA golf tour this year, is a brother-in-law of pro Gary Player.

OSU's 'Spy' Reports on Opening Foe

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Picturing Southern Methodist as a formidable foe in Saturday's opener poses a problem for Esco Sarkinen, Ohio State's No. 1 cloak-and-dagger man.

But "Sark" made a valiant effort at the season-launching press luncheon.

He stressed that the Mustangs have the nation's No. 1 punter in quarterback Danny Thomas; that the offensive "I" formation of the Texans puts added burdens on the defense, and that the SMU "Jitterbug" defense held Florida to eight first downs in Saturday's lid-lifter.

It all sounded menacing, except that the Mustangs mustered only six first downs and were trimmed 24 to 8. And over the last four seasons the Lone Star entry has won only 8 of 41 games, being outscored 716 to 353. Over the same route Ohio State has won 26 of 36 and outscored the opposition 745 to 373 — just a point shy of doubling the enemy effort.

Coach Woody Hayes, who had heard all his spy's report before, didn't bother to listen again. He told the assembled scribes his defense, like most other coaches, was ahead of the offense; that he hoped his offense would be ready by Saturday; that he would 'platoon all the way' to prevent his players from tiring, and that this week's not-too-strenuous practices would be moved up daily so that by Thursday they'd be starting at 1:30 p.m., the game time for the entire seven-game home season.

DETROIT (AP) — William Clay Ford, owner of the Detroit Lions, said Monday night "more than one" of his National Football League players had been fined for violating an 11 p.m. curfew last Friday before Saturday's game against Los Angeles.

Ford said the fines ranged up to $100 "and they're going to stick."

Asked if a report were true that "several, meaning three or more" had been fined, Ford replied: "Let's just say more than one."

Rick Spires' 68 Is Best in Ohio Open Tourney

Circleville's Rick Spires, a 39-year-old pro who gave up golf teaching to sell newspapers, held a hefty four stroke lead today as the Ohio Open championship wheeled into the second round.

A sizzling 33-35-68 over Walnut Hill's 7,090 yard par 72 layout gave the former Pickaway County Club pro a lead over a field of more than 150.

Tom Cassidy, the current PCC pro, was five strokes off Spires' pace - setting 68. The runner-up last year, Cassidy was tied with eight other golfers.

Larry Cassidy was well back in the field with a 43-37-80.

EIGHT players were caught on the course by darkness and were forced to finish their rounds early this morning.

Spires credited his best round of tourney action ever to a hot putter and his first try at charting a course.

"I played here Friday to chart it and hit the ball good while scoring a 74 Sunday."

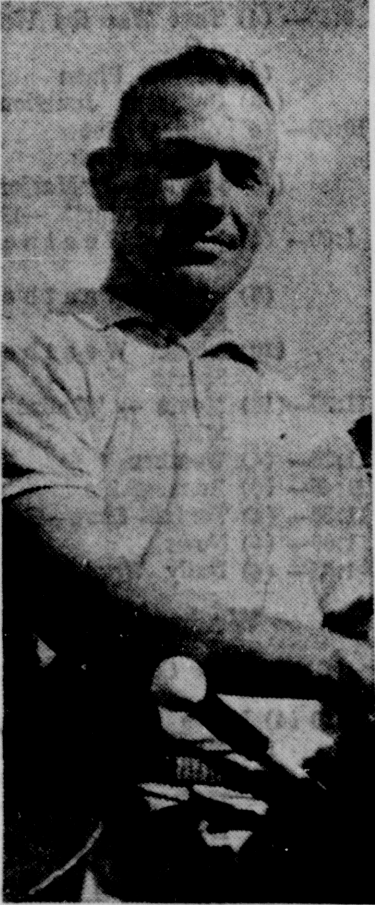

He needed only 26 putts - 11 on the front nine - as he came up with four birdies and a bogey for a three under count at the end of the first nine.

The father of three, (his 12-year-old daughter, Beth, and seven-year-old son, Jeff, have already taken up the game) said he was playing with a new set of Tony Lema irons.

Spires assisted Don Collins, owner of Upper Lansdowne Golf Links, Pickaway County's newest course, with the initial layout.

At his suggestion, a number of refinements, including ladies' tees on the longer holes, were added to the course.

An oddly-assorted trio of challengers was deadlocked at 72

back of the six-birdie shooter. At even par were Denny Shute, famed pro of the Akron Portage Club, several times winner of this event and twice national PGA champion; amateur Don Ogrizovich of Steubenville, Ohio University graduate who resumed playing in July after an 18-month layoff caused by injuries suffered in an auto accident; and amateur C.E. (Chuck) Smith, 29, of Reynoldsburg, a Purdue graduate who migrated here from Gary, Ind.

Darkness halted the first round play leaving a dozen players stranded on the long course. They were to resume in a "dawn patrol" action this morning, and some of them could ease into the top bracket.

Don Stickney of Columbus, who gained fame a few years ago by ousting Jack Nicklaus in the latter's last vain effort to win the Ohio amateur at Youngstown, was three under par for 17 holes; Bob Zimmerman of Dayton was even with the car, and two-time public links champion Tom Weiskopf of Bedford and Columbus was one over.

The top 25 professionals at the end of 72 holes will split up $4,500, with the top prize of $1,000 and 25th getting $40. A dozen amateurs will slice up $1,100, in prizes ranging from $25 to $250 in merchandise. The seniors, over the 36-hole route, will divide $400, with the winner getting $150.

The field will be cut to the low 60 professionals and the leading amateurs after today's play. The survivors go 36 holes Wednesday.

Helpful Suspect
PARIS, Ky. (AP) — Deputy Sheriff Fred Boling and Constable John Lee drove through a heavy rain, then stopped in front of the home of a wanted man.

The suspect came out, got in their car, and asked, "What's the matter? Broke down?"

"Nope," Boling replied. "Who are you?"

The man identified himself. "You're the man we're looking for," said the deputy. "You are under arrest."

Redlegs Find Weakness in Phillies '9'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It's taken 150 games but the National League-leading Philadelphia Phillies finally have revealed a weakness.

All the opposition has to do is get a man to third base. Then it's all downhill.

Cincinnati's Chico Ruiz reached third in the sixth inning Monday night and promptly became the second player in three games to beat the Phillies by stealing home.

Ruiz' theft and John Tsitouris' six-hit pitching gave the Reds a 1-0 victory and pulled second-place Cincinnati to within 5½ games of the Phillies, who were beaten by the Los Angeles Dodgers 4-3 Saturday night when Willie Davis stole home in the 16th inning.

In the only other game scheduled Monday, Rusty Staub drove in two runs and Ken Johnson pitched a four-hitter as the Houston Colts defeated San Francisco 3-1 for their fifth straight victory — and the third under new Manager Luman Harris.

The loss left the fourth-place Giants seven games back of the Phillies with only a dozen games remaining. The Phillies tangle with the Reds again tonight, seeking to move closer to their first pennant since 1950 sending Chris Short, 17-7 against Jim O'Toole, 15-7.

The American League pennant race resumes this afternoon when second-place Baltimore meets Detroit. The Orioles, one game behind the front-running New York Yankees, will start Milt Pappas, 15-5, against the Tigers' Hank Aguirre, 5-10.

The Yankees are scheduled for a two-nighter at Cleveland while third-place Chicago, trailing by two games, is at Los Angeles for a night game.

Tsitouris, who brought his record to 8-11 with his first shut-out of the season, was locked in a scoreless duel with Art Mahaffey, 12-9, until Ruiz dashed home.

Chico led off the sixth with a single, moved to third on a single by Vada Pinson and, with Mahaffey pitching to Frank Robinson, suddenly broke for the plate. Mahaffey's throw was wide of the plate and skipped by catcher Clay Dalrymple.

Ruiz, however, was officially credited with his seventh steal of the season on a play that admittedly surprised everyone involved.

Johnson, now 11-16, was tagged for a homer by rookie Jim Hart in the fourth inning, then shackled the Giants on one hit the rest of the way.

Staub tied the score in the Colts' half of the fourth when he homered off Bob Bolin. Houston scored the tie-breaking run in the fifth on a single by Jim Wynn, a sacrifice and John Bateman's double.

The final Colt run scored in the eighth on a walk, Joe Morgan's single and a sacrifice fly by Staub.

Welshman Faces Welter Champion

LONDON (AP) — Thousands of Welsh boxing fans arrived in London to root for Brian Curvis, their national idol, in his bid for Emile Griffith's world welterweight title tonight.

Griffith, the hard-hitting, 26-year-old New Yorker, is a 2-1 favorite to win the 15-rounder before a sellout crowd of 10,300 in Wembley's indoor stadium. The fight is scheduled to start about 3 p.m., EST.

The 27-year-old Welshman holds the British and Empire titles.

Fitz Prim Wins at Delaware

Fitz Prim, owned by Robert Callihan and driven by Jack Betts, finished three lengths ahead in a field of 11 in a conditioned pace at the Delaware County Fair Monday.

Paying $16.80, $12, and $12, the Circleville owned pacer, lead the field under the wire in a time of 2:07.3. The purse was $750.

British Yacht Hopes Dashed By Americans

NEWPORT, R. I. (AP) — They held a post-mortem on the drowned America's Cup hopes of Sovereign.

The verdict, with no one dissenting — the better designed, equipped and sailed boat won.

Constellation was outstanding in outclassing the challenger from the Royal Thames Yacht Club in four straight races and never more so than in Monday's final race which she won by almost two miles or 15 minutes, 40 seconds over Rhode Island Sound.

It was a bitter defeat for all hands of the British entourage and Tony Boyden, who paid $300,000 to make Sovereign the finest challenger Britain could produce for the Cup that America has held without interruption for 113 years.

This was the 19th successful challenge in which the U.S. has won 60 of the 66 races held.

"We obviously were beaten because we weren't good enough in every facet—rigging, spars and sailing to some extent," said Boyden.

He would challenge again, Boyden said, only if he could be assured "if designers in Britain can come forward with designs we know are good enough to catch the Americans."

The prospect, he said was not encouraging.

Tribe Seeks To Guillotine Mighty Yanks

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Indians can drop the guillotine on the New York Yankees tonight and Wednesday night and possibly knock them out of the American League pennant race.

The teams square off here in back-to-back doubleheaders. New York, leading the second-place Baltimore Orioles by a game-and-a-half ahead in the loss column—has only 14 contests left. Seven are against the Indians.

Cleveland and New York both are red hot, the Indians having won six of their last seven and the Yankees seven of their last eight.

Against the Yankees, however, Cleveland has been eminently unsuccessful, dropping nine games while winning only two. The Indians wind up the 1964 season in Yankee Stadium Oct. 2, 3 and 4.

Besides reaping revenge from the Yankees, Cleveland could go a long way toward getting fourth-place money, which is $500 per player. The Indians trail fourth-place Detroit by one game.

A good showing against the Yankees here also could be vital in the city's efforts to keep the team in Cleveland. Nothing would spur the sale of 1965 season tickets more than a Tribe sweep.

Jim Brown OKs Muslims

He's No Member, But Likes Views

CLEVELAND (AP) — Pro football star Jimmy Brown of the Cleveland Browns says he is not a member of the Black Muslims but supports the views of the Negro organization.

"Some people may not like what I have to say," the Negro fullback said Monday in explaining some statements he made on racial discrimination in this week's edition of Look Magazine.

"That doesn't matter to me," he went on. "The things had to be said. As far as football goes, it won't make any difference. If I can produce, it won't matter. And if I can't, then it doesn't matter either."

A spokesman for the National Football League club declined comment on the article, which is from a book authored by Brown entitled, "Off My Chest."

Among the things Brown, a $50,000-a-year player now in his eighth season with Cleveland, touched on:

—White racial attitudes — "I protest prejudice, but I am a prejudiced man. The white man has forced me to be prejudiced against him..."

—Ex-coach Paul Brown — "Although I was billed as Paul's star performer, I had no relationship with him. I wanted to, but his aloofness put him beyond approach... my six years under Paul Brown were as much as I could stomach."

On the racial issue, Brown wrote:

"The first thing the white man must understand is the depth of our protest. Does he realize that the Black Muslim's basic attitude toward whites is shared by almost 98 per cent of the Negro population?"

The Black Muslim sect is a Negro group that advocates separation of the races and preaches a theory of Negro supremacy.

"I am not one of the Muslims," Brown said. "Yet I'm all for them because we need every possible element going for us. The more commotion, the better. Do I sound bitter? I am not in the least bitter. You don't have to be bitter to fight. If people throw rocks at your home, you don't have to be bitter to come out ready for action."

George Poole, former assistant trainer for Greentree Stable, has replaced Jimmy Jones as Calumet Farm's trainer. Jones is the new director of racing at Monmouth Park in Oceanport, N. J.

South African Bob Verwey, who joined the PGA golf tour this year, is a brother-in-law of pro Gary Player.

OSU's 'Spy' Reports on Opening Foe

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Picturing Southern Methodist as a formidable foe in Saturday's opener poses a problem for Esco Sarkkinen, Ohio State's No. 1 cloak-and-dagger man.

But "Sark" made a valiant effort at the season-launching press luncheon.

He stressed that the Mustangs have the nation's No. 1 punter in quarterback Danny Thomas; that the offensive "I" formation of the Texans puts added burdens on the defense, and that the SMU "Jitterbug" defense held Florida to eight first downs in Saturday's lid-lifter.

It all sounded menacing, except that the Mustangs mustered only six first downs and were trimmed 24 to 8. And over the last four seasons the Lone Star entry has won only 8 of 41 games, being outscored 716 to 353. Over the same route Ohio State has won 26 of 36 and outscored the opposition 745 to 373 — just a point shy of doubling the enemy effort.

Coach Woody Hayes, who had heard all his spy's report before, didn't bother to listen again. He told the assembled scribes his defense, like most other coaches, was ahead of the offense; that he hoped his offense would be ready by Saturday; that he would "platoon all the way" to prevent his players from tiring, and that this week's not-too-strenuous practices would be moved up daily so that by Thursday they'd be starting at 1:30 p.m., the game time for the entire seven-game home season.

Detroit Gridders Pay Curfew Fines

DETROIT (AP) — William Clay Ford, owner of the Detroit Lions, said Monday night "more than one" of his National Football League players had been fined for violating an 11 p.m. curfew last Friday before Saturday's game against Los Angeles.

Ford said the fines ranged up to $100 "and they're going to stick."

Asked if a report were true that "several, meaning three or more" had been fined, Ford replied: "Let's just say more than one."

The Lins and Rams tied 17-17 Saturday.

3 Aces Holed In Single Day

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—A hole-in-one — a golfing rarity — was accomplished Monday by three players at the Oak Hill Country Club.

Joseph Scanlon of Rochester, a retired tire dealer who is in his 70s, scored his ace on the 132-yard 4th hole of the club's West course, using No. 6 iron.

Carl Jone, a 52-year-old ice cream manufacturer from Rochester, put in a No. 6 iron shot on the East course's 161-yard 11th hole.

J. P. Scullin, 40, a dentist from Oswego, bagged a hole-in-one with a No. 7 iron on the 120-yard 15th hole of the East course.

Rochester Evens IL Playoff Count

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—The Rochester Red Wings squared the International League Governor's Cup playoff series Monday night with a 4-3 decision over the Syracuse Chiefs.

Each team now has won one in the best-of-seven series that shifts to Rochester tonight for the next three games.

Starter Tom Phoebus got credit for the victory. Jim Liggett took over the hero's role in the hitting department.

Phoebus got a tremendous relief job from Herman Starette, who took over in the sixth and pitched hitless ball the rest of the way to save the verdict. Liggett drove in three runs.

NEW YORK (AP) — Appropriately enough in this highly political season, a television series about politics had its CBS network debut Monday night.

Perhaps it is the marked contrast to the endless insanities of the raft of new comedy shows or perhaps it is the welcome change from the sad personal problem series, but "Slattery's People" seems like a most attractive and intelligent addition to the schedule.

The central character Slattery — no first name — is the minority leader of the lower house of a state legislature.

The first episode had a veteran legislator with a fine record accused of using his position as chairman of an important committee to smother a bill without a vote by his committee.

Before the hour was over, we had some idea of the workings of a state legislature, the pressures on its senators and assemblymen, all in addition to an interesting problem in political morality.

Richard Crenna, who hitherto has been seen almost entirely in rather silly comedy roles, comes on strong as a hard-headed, tough-minded idealist.

It was a well-made, thoughtful program with dramatic values.

Earlier, there was the debut of a CBS comedy, "Many Happy Returns." The series is the brainchild of Parke Levy who once gave us "December Bride." His new effort originally was called "December Groom," which is a clue of sorts.

Also on CBS Monday night, Steve Allen took over Garry Moore's old job on "I've Got a Secret." With a program that practically abandoned the long-playing show's format. This was rather welcome for a change, but the panel of four looked a little put out because it had so little to do.

Lucille Ball started her new CBS comedy season on roller skates and wound up in a fish pond, indicating that there, at least, it will be funny business as usual. Miss Ball is still the funniest female in television.

Panamanian Braulio Baeza was the first rider to win seven races at Aqueduct's fall meeting this year.

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. — Phil Dickens, the Indiana coach who has gone through some lean years, is the thinnest he's ever been, physically, but his 1964 Hoosiers present the best ball club he's had in seven long years.

Phil has dropped 52 pounds from his big frame — a Mayo Clinic schedule—but his Hoosier footballers could be the heavy-weight team to knock off the works this year.

Everyone up and down the Big Ten line will tell you that Indiana is "much improved," that the Hoosiers finally are coming into their own.

Dickens, who goes over his squad in a slow-moving hesitation pitch approach, won't have any of that, however, and went so far as to say that if one of the girls magazines which picked his club up high should be anywhere near correct, he'd take a five-year subscription to it even though he has a younger 12-year-old at home.

"I don't think we should be rated that high," says Phil, in his drawing approach.

"I've been through seven years of this and you don't go to the top at once." (Indiana finally has come off the N.C.A.A. suspension which started with a recruitment crackdown on Dickens).

"The team we have right now," he adds, "has won only six games in two years so how can they put us up so high?"

The reasons, of course, include 24 lettermen returning, some close games last year despite a 3-6 record, and some outstanding players like All-American fullback Tom Nowatzke, quarterback Richie Badar, who led the conference in percentage of passes completed, and a solid varsity, manned by lettermen including nine who started the last game of the 1963 season.

Dickens will tell you that Nowatzke, who led the Big Ten in rushing last year, set a new all-time Indiana record of 765 yards, another record for scoring with 58 points, an all-time Indiana field goal record of five, led the team in pass interceptions and played 52 minutes of every game, should be the No. 1 football player in the country.

The Indiana coach admits he has a good first unit, but is worried about his pass defense for, last year, with virtually the same club, 19 of 25 touchdowns came by pass lanes.

"For the first time," he says, "we have an experienced eleven and also for the first time in the T-formation we have a young man (Badar) who played quarterback in high school."

The Hoosiers first unit would have Bill Malinchak and Rudy Kuechenberg at the ends, weak side and strong side; Ken Hollister (230) and Randy Beisler (235) at the tackles, Don Croftcheck (215) and Mel Branch (216) at the guards and Ted Worcester (215) at center.

All are lettermen. A comer is Rick Ishida, a sophomore guard and a Japanese.

Along with Badar at quarter are Trent Walters and Don Dilly, juniors, at half, and the great Nowatzke at full.

Dickens says that after the first two tackles he has to go to soph, but in Branch and Croftcheck at guard he thinks he has the best pair in the country.

Malinchak, a junior from Monessen, Pa., will play at end on offense and defensive safety.

Behind Badar at quarter is Gary Toffi, a soph, who is a smart boy and a good passer, and No. 3 is Horace Parker, another soph who is the best runner among the quarterbacks.

Walters took over the half-back spot last year when Marv Woodson was hurt. Dilly and a soph, John Ginter, fastest men on the squad, will alternate at wingback. Other backs who will break in are Moses Early, defensive halfback; Reggie Woods, a fine runner who has had some knee trouble, and Bart Moore, a soph quarter.

Frank Stavroff, a junior, was to have been No. 2 quarter but he's out for year with mononucleosis, and Doug Spicer, a wingback, had a knee operation and is a question mark.

Indiana opens against Northwestern and then takes on Ohio State, Iowa, Michigan State, Miami, Fla., Minnesota, Oregon State, Oregon and Purdue.
